AHMEDABAD.

Ahmedabad is the principal city of the district and headquarters of Gujarat, Northern Division of the Bombay Province. It is also a military station. It ranks first amongst the cities of Gujarat and is one of the most ancient, historical, picturesque and artistic cities in the Province. It derives its name from King Ahmedshah of Gujarat, who founded the city in the year 1413 A.D. It stands on the raised left bank of the River Sabarmati, about 173 ft. above the mean sea level. It has ancient walls stretching practically all round the city, but as it has latterly developed even beyond the city walls, these walls are being demolished at certain places. The walls enclose an area of more than two square miles and are from 15 to 20 feet in height with 14 gates, with a bastion and a tower at almost every 50 yards. In the early days of its prosperity it is said to have contained a population of about nine lakhs of souls, and so great was its wealth that some of its merchants and traders were believed to have possessed fortunes of not less than a million sterling. During the disorders in the latter part of the 18th century it suffered severely and in 1881, when it came under the British rule, it was greatly depopulated and appeared like a melancholy wreck. But on peace being established, the trade and commerce of the city soon developed and now it has undergone a marked revival, especially since the development of the textile industry. There are about 153 cotton mills and factories in the city. Its population, according to the 1931 census, numbered 386,557. It is an important railway junction and has refreshment rooms, with sleeping accommodation at the station.

Ahmedabad is rich in monuments of great architectural merit. There are many places worth seeing, viz., the Kankaria Tank, with the Nagna Vadi in the centre of the tank, founded by King Kutubshah, Sarkhej Mosque, Jumma Masjid, the three historic gates, Mosque of King Ahmedshah and his Begum situated in Manekchowk, the heart of the city, Mosque of Makarba Shah Alam's and Queen Seekari's Mosque, Nar Narayan Devy's temple of the Swaminarayan Sect founded by Shree Shahjanand Swami, Ellis' Bridge, Queen Victoria's Garden and Madhav Bagh, Hathbha's Vadi, etc.

There are two good hotels in the City—the Grand and the Ritz—which provide both boarding and lodging to those living in European style. There are several lodges and hotels for Hindus and Mahomedans.

There are also several clubs, the leading club open to all classes of men and women being the Gujarat Club situated just behind the District and Sessions Court buildings. There are special clubs for Europeans and Parsees known as European and Parsi Gymkhanas, the Reform Club, the Rajnagar Club, and Merchants' Club, being amongst others. Recreation clubs like the Hindu Gymkhana, Railwaymen's Institute, Postal Union, Baronet Gymkhanas and others generally provide a meeting place and afford facilities for games, etc.

AHMEDNAGAR.

An important district in the Bombay Deccan, 6,623 square miles, population 1,142,229. To the North West and North lies Nasik district. On the North East the line of the Godavari River separates Ahmednagar from the dominions of H. E. H. The Nizam. On the South East and South West lie the districts of Sholapur and Poona. Further North the District stretches westwards until it touches Thana. The principal geographical feature of the District is the chain of Sahyadri hills, the chief river being the Godavari. The bulk of the population belongs to the Marathas who are generally cultivators and artificers. The population of the city is 54,193 and the population of the Cantonment, including the suburb of Bhingar is 10,226. Despite the fertility of its soil, the District is liable to famine owing to uncertain and scanty rainfall.

Irrigation : A large part of the District has been irrigated by the confluence of the rivers Godavari and Pravara, which has encouraged sugar cane plantation on a wide area. There are six sugar factories in the District — 1. The Maharashtra Sugar Factory, Belapur. 2. The Haregaon Sugar Factory, — 3. The Godavari Sugar Mills, Kanhegaon. 4. The Laxmi Sugar Mills, Savalvihr (Kopergaon Taluka). 5. The Beivandi Sugar Mills (Shrigonda Taluka). 6. ShriChangdev Sugar Mills, Puntamba. The total area irrigated is 77,202 acres, yielding to Government a revenue of Rs. 15,94,247.

Ahmednagar, named after its founder, Ahmednabah, is the headquarters of the district. The town itself is far from attractive, but half a mile to the East is a fine fort with which is closely associated the name of Chandibibi, the brave and astute woman, who defended the fort in 1596 when Murad, Akbar's son, invaded Ahmednagar. The town figured prominently in the Duke of Wellington's Indian campaigns. The place where the Duke had his breakfast after capturing the fort in 1803 is marked on the eastern side by an old cannon piece surrounded by chams. Some historical relics of the Mahommedan period are found here. One of them is known as Alamgir's Darga, about 2 miles on the outskirts of the town. Aurangzeb, the last of the great galaxy of the Moghul Emperors, died here, and the Darga was erected at the place where his dead body was bathed. There is a Fighting Vehicles School in the Camp Area. Ahmednagar is now a big Military Training Centre for cadets. Regiments come and go.

Hospitals : There are three well-equipped hospitals—The Rapon Hospital (Government), The Evangeline Booth Hospital and The Ayurveda Hospital, with accommodation for 56, 72 and 28 beds respectively. The Evangeline Booth Hospital was started in 1903 and was taken over by the Salvation Army in 1939.

There are 13 Grant-in-aid dispensaries and 12 sub-aided medical practitioners (Allopathic and 10 Ayurvedic) in the district. There is one hospital at Vadala called the "The Farbanks James Friendship Memorial Hospital." There is a Methodist Mission Dispensary at Puntamba.

Ayurveda Mahavidyalaya : The College was started in 1917. It is recognised by the Board of the Indian Systems of Medicine. The courses of instruction extend over 4 and 5 years respectively and include complete knowledge of the Ayurvedic system and a supplementary knowledge of Allopathy. The College attracts students from all over India.

Ayurvedashram Pharmacy : This Pharmacy is doing research work in medicine. It has a capital of 1 lakh of rupees.

The Literary Association : There is a literary association here known as the Vanganayopasak Mandal. It came into existence in 1928; annually about 10 to 12 public lectures are arranged under its auspices. It was owing to the efforts of this association that the Maharashtra Literary Conference held here in 1939 was a great success.

BALASINOR.

A small town in the Gujarat States Agency under the Political Agent, Gujarat States Agency. Area 189 square miles. Principal agricultural products:—Rice, wheat, cotton, groundnut and other grains. Revenue about 6 lakhs. Balasinor is the capital of the State and it is situated at about 10 miles from Bevalia Station (B. B. & C. I. Railway). The major part of the country is fertile. The northern plain part is hilly and tolerably wooded. Panthers are found in the jungle.

The second important town in the State is Birpur. It is celebrated for the Durgah (Mausoleum) of Khas Mahmud Dariyas Sahab. A fair is held annually. Khas Mahmud Dariyas Sahab is the Patron Saint of the State and it is by far the most important fair in this part of the country. This celebrated saint flourished about 400 years ago and his memory is revered by Muslims and Hindus alike in the whole of Gujarat and Kathiawar and people flock in large numbers in spite of great troubles and inconvenience in travelling as Birpur is situated about 6 miles from Lunawada Station (Godhra-Lunawada branch line). All State buildings are lighted by electricity.

BELGAUM.

A District in the Southern Division of the Bombay Province, bounded on the North by the Kolhapur and States of Sangli, Miraj and Jath; on the North-East by Bijapur; on the East by the States of Jamkhadi and Mudhol; on the South and South-East by the Districts of Dharwar and North Kanara and the State of Kolhapur; on the South-West by the Territory of Goa and on the West by the States of Savantwadi and Kolhapur. Area 4,612 square miles; population 1,226,000. The country forms a large plain, studded with solitary peaks and broken here and there by low ranges of hills. On the North and East the District is open and well cultivated, but to the West it is intersected by spurs of the Sahyadri range, thickly covered in some places with forest. The district contains both black and red soils, and produces most of the grains, pulses, oil-seeds, and fibrous cotton. The average rainfall of Belgaum is 41.5 inches. Belgaum, the headquarters town, possesses a very pleasant climate. It is a cantonment and a station on the Southern Mahratta Railway. There is a traveller's bungalow and a Civil Hospital.

For the training of Military Officers there is an Officers' Training School in the Belgaum Cantonment area. In the City and the Cantonment there are three Colleges—an Arts College, a Law College and a College for the training of Secondary School Teachers—and ten High Schools, all affiliated to the Bombay University.

BIJAPUR.

A District in the Karnatak in the Southern Division of the Bombay Province with a dry climate, its uncertain rainfall averaging 18 to 24 inches and rich soil. Area 8,707 square miles, population 975,742, majority Lingayats; language spoken, both Kanarese and Marathi but official language, only Kanarese. Kaladgi, a town now in Bagalkot taluka, was formerly the District Headquarters, which was transferred to Bijapur in 1884. The [redacted] is better known as precarious tract as it is often visited by famine. The staple crops of the District are jowari and wheat, but cotton, ground-nut, bajri, pulses, linseed, sesamum, and safflower are also largely grown. Bijapur and Bagalkot are the two important market centres in the district, the former exporting cotton, jowar, wheat, ground-nut, linseed, sesamum and bajri, on an extensive scale.

Bijapur town, the headquarter station of the district, is situated on the Hubli-Sholapur section of the M & S M Ry., 350 miles south of Bombay, and is reached via Poona, Sholapur and Hgt. It is known for its ancient historical buildings such as the Juma Masjid with its elaborate Paintings, Ibrahim Rosa Carvings and Gol Ghamar, the largest dome in the world, with a whispering gallery, and a museum containing collections of historical relics such as portraits of sultans and kings, old coins, armoury and manuscripts in Urdu and Persian, carpets, etc. Badami, a taluka town, is another place to use as it contains big tanks and temples such as Mahakut, Ramagahakari, and Shivayog Mandir. It was once the famous capital of the Chakrayas and is now noted for its caves carved in rocks. It stands on the Sholapur-Hukhl station of the M. & S. M. Ry., about 60 miles to the South of Bijapur. Other commercial places in the district are Hikal in Hingwad taluka and Golegad in Badami, the former is known for 'Hikal Series' the export of which once exceeded three lakhs of rupees a year, while the latter exports Chalkstone on a large scale. Bijapur town also contains old water works; the new one from which water is being supplied to the town is the Bhutmal water works, about 5 miles to the north of the town on Bijapur-Sholapur road.

There is a Government Civil Hospital in Bijapur and two free dispensaries, one Ayurvedic and one Allopathic, conducted by the Municipal Borough. There are also a Maternity and Child Welfare Homes, a Lepet Asylum run on public charity, and an Orphanage. There is a travellers' bungalow about a mile from the station with a messman attached and a refreshment room at the railway station. The District has, since September 1, 1904, been made into an independent Civil and Sessions Division.

BROACH.

Broach Sub-Division is one of the richest and most fertile sub-divisions among the districts of the Bombay Province, bounded on the north by the River Mahi, on the east and south-east by the Native States of Baroda and Rajpipla, on the south by the River Kim, and on the west by the Gulf of Cambay. It embraces an area of 1,467 square miles and a population of 2,00,000. The sub-division forms an alluvial plain, chiefly of black cotton soil, highly fertile and well cultivated, producing the famous Broach Cotton, the best grown in India. Broach, the headquarters of the District, situated on the banks of the Narbada, is one of the oldest seaports in Western India. Formerly the seat of a great and flourishing trade, it has been largely eclipsed by the growth of Bombay, and the weaving industry also has declined to an appreciable degree. Broach is a station on the Bombay, Baroda & Central India Railway. There is a fair, dharamshala and a P.W.D. Inspection Bungalow. The new Narbada Bridge has been recently constructed by the B. B. & C. I. Railway at huge cost. It is a monumental structure of engineering. There are two cotton spinning and weaving mills in the City. They are—(1) The Gopal Mills, (2) The Broach Fine Count Mills.

DHARAMPUR.

Dharampur is included in the Gujarat States Agency, and the Ruler enjoys the powers of a First Class State as a personal distinction. It is situated 16 miles from Bulsar. Area 704 square miles. Gross revenue Rs. 18,80,000. Population 123,334. The State consists of 273 villages. It is bounded on the North by the Bansda State and Chikhli Taluka, on the South by the Nagar Aveli Portuguese territory and Nasik District, on the East by the Surgana State and Nasik, and on the West by the Chikhli, Bulsar and Pardi Talukas. There is motor road and a regular motor service between Bulsar and Dharampur.

The languages spoken are Gujarati, Marathi, Hindusthani and Konkani. There is a High School called Shrimant Maharana Shri Mohandevji High School affiliated to the Bombay University and a Girls' School, teaching the full course. There are also hospitals for both sexes, with modern equipments, including an X-Ray plant, Hanova Lamp, Diathermy Apparatus, Pantotast, Short Wave Apparatus, etc. A Leprosy Asylum affords relief to those stricken with leprosy. The S. S. Manherkumver Ayurvedic Aushadhalaya serves the Orthodox and Baniparas. There is also a centre opened for anti-rabies treatment.

The principal agricultural products comprise rice of various kinds, ragi, jowar, castor-seeds, kurdana, sugarcane, pulses of different kinds and cotton. There are also large forests containing teak, babul, bamboos, etc.

There are good motor roads leading to the Wilson Hill Station and other places of interest. The hot water springs at Arnai, about 11 miles from Dharampur, can be reached by a good motor road passing through beautiful scenery. The Wilson Hill Station has recently been opened and bids fair to grow into a fine Hill Station as His Highness the Maharana Sahab is keen on developing it. The industrial undertakings in the State consist of rice, flour and oil mills.

Dharampur town is lighted by electricity. The Lady Wilson Museum is an object of great interest to outsiders as well as State subjects. A road 40 miles in length, recently constructed, has opened up a direct route from Gujarat to Nasik, which is likely to prove extremely popular.

Various parts of the State have been linked up by telephone lines. A separate telephone line between Dharampur and Bombay has been specially laid to give facilities of communication to the State.

The Weir Industrial Institute contains the necessary equipment for teaching carpentry, tin and blacksmith work, weaving and dyeing, cane and bamboo work, etc.

The Administration of the State is carried on through a State Council under the guidance and supervision of the Ruler. There is also a Municipal Council.

The Jubilee Park with a tower in the central part of the town adds to its beauty. A landing ground for aeroplanes is available in the vicinity of the town.

Maharana Shree Narandevji Library, recently erected by His Highness the Maharana Sahab at the cost of Rs. 25,000 was opened by Lt.-Col. C. K. Daly, J.L.S., Resident for Baroda and the Gujarat States, is situated amidst healthy and sanitary surroundings in a central part of the town.

Ruler : His Highness Maharana Shri Vijaydevji, Rana Sahab of Dharampur, Sisodia Rajput, Solar-Race. Born in 1884. Ascended the gadi in 1921. Married in 1906, A. S. Rasikunverba, daughter of His Highness Maharana Shri Gambhirsinghji, late Maharaja Sahab of Bappria, and after her demise in 1907, A. S. Manherkunverba, daughter of K. S. Samant Singhji of Palitana. His Highness A. S. Manherkunverba died in January 1939.

DHARWAR.

A District in the Bombay Karnatak. It is bounded on the north by the Districts of Belgaum, Bijapur and the Raichur State, on the south by the State of Mysore; on the east by Hyderabad Territory and the Bellary District of the Madras Province, and on the west by the District of North Kanara. Area, 4,604 square miles, population 1,102,877. Dharwar is roughly divided into two belts, characterised by differences of configuration, soil and products. To the north and north-east spread vast unbroken plains of black soil which produce wheat and abundant cotton crops. Dharwar is the biggest cotton growing district in Bombay. The western belt of the District is traversed by ■ ■ ■ hills; this tract consists of a succession of low ranges covered with herbage and brushwood. The ranges are separated by flat valleys, and it is in these valleys and the lower slopes of the hills that cultivation is chiefly confined. Farther west the country is still more hilly, and the areas increase in size towards the frontier of North Kanara. In former times Dharwar is said to have yielded gold in abundance, and Companies had been formed thoroughly to develop the auriferous deposits but their operations have ceased. The Basel Mission carries on an important work in the District. Dharwar, the headquarters town, is a station on the M. & S. M. Railway and is the capital city of the Kannada speaking Province of British India, with institutions like the Karnatak Vidya Vardhak Sangha, the Karnatak Historical Research Society, Karnatak Vinyam Vidyapeeth, Karnatak Arts College, Sanskrit Path Shala and the Kannada Research Centre. A Board School is situated here. The Dak Bungalow is a mile from the station. The City of Hubli, 12 miles from Dharwar, is the biggest city in the Southern Division and is the District Headquarters of the M. & S. M. Railway, with a Railway workshop. Hubli is also known for its cotton and textile industry. The city of Gadag is another centre noted for its cotton and textile industry. TALUKAS—Ranibennur, Gadag (Mundargi Peitha), Karajgi, Ron, Hubli, Hangal, Dharwar, Ked, Navalgund (Nargund Peitha), Kalhatgi and Bankapur.

GONDAL.

An Indian State in Halar, Kathiawar, under the Government of India since October 1924. It is bounded on the north by Rajkot and pretty Jadeja Talukas; on the south by Junagadh and Jetpur, on the east by Bulkhia, Junagadh and Kotda; and on the west by Junagadh and Nawanagar. The State is divided into two divisions, viz. Gondal and Dhoraj—the former comprising the Mahals of Gondal, Sultanpur, Kohlad and Sarsar, and the latter, Dhoraj. Bhayavadar, Patanvav, Upleta. Area, 1,024 sq. miles, Population, 244,014. Language spoken, Gujarati. On the Kathiawar Railways, there is a Guest House and a Travellers' Bungalow.

The capital is Gondal in Lat $21^{\circ}57'30''$ N, Long $75^{\circ}50'$ E. 447 Population 30,553.

The most striking feature of the State is that there are no taxes, import or export duties or octroi. It is also noted for the excellence and number of its temples for its calcareous hills. The Mahal Hill, famous for the temple of Matri Mata, is visited by vast numbers of pilgrims every year in the month of September. The public gardens of Gondal are reputed to be amongst the best in India. Education is free and the State was the first to make it compulsory for girls.

The attached Talukas.—The Talukas of Bhadwa, Mengni, Shahpur and Rajpara were attached to the Gondal State in June 1911. Their total area is about 100 sq miles with a population of 10,372 souls. The Kotda Sangani State with a population of 12,165 was attached in December 1912.

HYDERABAD STATE.

The State of Hyderabad and Berar occupies a well defined and distinct position, located about the centre of the Indian Peninsula and comprising a low plateau with an average height of 1,250 ft. above sea level. This is the largest Indian State in area, population and revenue, and from the point of view of population is far bigger than Egypt, Iraq or Afghanistan. The area is 100,465 square miles (Berar 17,767 square miles), and the population 19,636,187 (Berar 3,441,838). It is divided into two large administrative circles, the Teligana and the Mahrathwara, corresponding to the natural divisions of the north and the west with its trappean rocks, and the granite and limestone region of the south and the east. The river systems of the Godavari and the Krishna control the waters of the Dominions, while the Tungabhadra forms the southern boundary. There are flat topped hills dispersed widely, and forest areas are confined to the districts of Warangal, Karimnagar and Adilabad, and the Amrabad Taluqa of the Mahboobnagar district. The climate is equable practically all over the State, and the scenery varied and pleasant.

The victory in the Great War won for the faithful ally of the British Government the special title of "His Exalted Highness," and the 1935 Agreement brought the new distinction of "His Highness the Prince of Berar" to the heir-apparent of the State.

By the 1936 Agreement, Berar is administered as a part of the Province of the Central Provinces and Berar, full sovereign rights of His Exalted Highness the Nizam being recognised, and Rs. 25 lakhs being paid as rent to the State coffers as before.

Many places of beauty and of historic interest are scattered all over the dominions. In the very heart of the metropolis a magnificent edifice, called Char Minar, because of its four minarets, stands at the junction of four main roads. It was built in A.D. 1691 by Mohammed Quli Qutub Shah.

The well-known fortress of Golconda, popularly associated with the diamonds of the Krishna Valley, is situated at a distance of six miles from the City of Hyderabad and commands a beautiful view of the surrounding country. It has an elevation of 2,000 ft. above sea level, being built on a hill. Within the walls of the fort, scattered in all directions, are a number of old buildings, mosques and temples of historical interest. Of all the mountain fortresses, Golconda has the most impressive structure, and contains many positions which were considered impregnable in its days of glory.

The Ellora caves are situated at a distance of 13 miles from Aurangabad. They contain some of the largest and most elaborately carved specimens of Buddhist, Brahmanic, and Jain styles of cave architecture. There are 30 large caves carved out of living rock. They stretch over a distance of two miles and represent a period of 1,000 years. The three systems have been arranged side by side in almost chronological order. The interior walls are richly carved with mythological designs representing many well known stories and characters. By far the most important of these rock hewn temples is the great excavation known as the temple of Kailasa in which the whole Hindu pantheon is cut in a perpendicular rock.

About 53 miles north-east of Aurangabad are situated the famous Buddhist caves of Ajanta. These caves vary in height from 35 feet to 100 feet. They are 32 in all, 20 of which belong exclusively to the Buddhist religion, while the remaining three are chaitya halls or places of worship. No trace of Brahmanical symbols is to be found in any of these caves. They display, in addition to colossal specimens of Buddhist sculpture, some of the most brilliant scenic paintings of the period.

The thousand-pillared temple at Hanamkonda which has weathered the storms of eight centuries, the temples of Tuljapur and Ambajoggi, and the Sikh Gurdwara at Nanded, are pre-eminent in a multitude of Hindu Temples scattered throughout the State, either for their artistic humours or historic associations.

Of the population of 16,174,303 of Hyderabad about one and a half million are town-dwellers and the rest live in villages. Agriculture forms the main occupation of the people, who live either by tilling the soil or by following some allied occupation. The land is generally fertile with an average rainfall of 30 ins. Among other crops the State produces chiefly jowar, rice, wheat, and many varieties of food grains. There is a large area under cotton cultivation, and the castor seed production yields a large proportion of the world's output.

Hyderabad is rich in agricultural and mineral wealth. Of the latter coal forms by far the most important item. At present coal mines are being worked by three companies at Singareni, Tandur and Sasthi.

H.E.H. the Nizam's State Railway with 1,481 miles of railway line and 4,286 miles of road transport is by far the largest industry in the State. Apart from being a major industry itself, it forms the basis of all other industries. It is fully equipped and with its progressive outlook is ever ready to provide facilities for the development of industries in the State.

Electricity for the cities of Hyderabad and Secunderabad and their environs is supplied at the present time by Hussain Sagar Power Station in Hyderabad. This is under the direct management of the Electricity Department of H.E.H. the Nizam's Government. The present capacity of the station stands at approximately 10,000 kilowatts, but it was designed for an ultimate capacity of 20,000 kilowatts. Considerable advance has been made in recent years with respect to street lighting and domestic consumption, while the adequacy of Hyderabad's water-supply has been greatly enhanced by the application of electricity for pumping water.

A number of large and small scale industries flourish in various parts of the State. Notable amongst these are Cotton Mills, Cement Manufacture, Metal Works, Ginning and Pressing Mills, Button Manufacture, etc. The State is also well known for the fine workmanship of its Badri ware, Warangal Carpets, Karimnagar Silver Work, Nirmal Toy Industry, the Gold Lace Work of Faizhan and the Humroo weaving of Aurangabad.

After two centuries of benevolent rule by the Asafia Dynasty, the present ruler, Nawab Mir Osman Ali Khan Bahadur, G.C.S.I., G.B.E., succeeded his father, Nawab Mir Mahboob Ali Khan Bahadur, in 1911, and in 1936, the Silver Jubilee celebrations of His Exalted Highness's reign were held all over the State by his loyal and grateful subjects. Modern Hyderabad, as at present and as planned for further progress, is entirely the product of His Exalted Highness's deep love of his subjects and genius for administration and statesmanship. The 1919 Constitution, promulgated by His Exalted Highness after personal touch with governmental work for several years and after the victorious termination of the Great War, and the Constitutional Reform Scheme announced in 1939, which is being introduced piecemeal, form the basis of the present administrative arrangements. There is an executive council with a president, with portfolios distributed among them, and with powers distinctly defined as among individual members.

There is a legislative council comprising 20 members, of whom eight are non-officials. There is also a judiciary, completely separated from the executive, and presided over by a High Court with a special charter, and a judicial committee working as the final Appellate Court. Urdu is the official language of the Court and the Government, and traditional methods of Moghul administration have been maintained intact, modified by the adaptation of modern conceptions and practices in other countries.

The State has a University with six Arts Colleges including one for Women and colleges for Engineering, Medicine, Law and Teaching. It has also an Honours College affiliated to the Madras University, a College for Jagirdars and a College of Physical Education. There are also a Central Cottage Industries Institute, a Central Technical College and an Observatory.

The Present Ruler of the State is His Exalted Highness, RAJAWAD-DOWRAH, AMIR-UL-RAHMAN, I.P., MYRAZZARUL MUZA, WALI-MAMALIK, NAWAB MIR USMAN ALI KHAN BAHADUR, PATTER JUNG SIPAH SALAR, Faithful Ally of the British Government, DEWARUD-DOWLA, NIKHATUL MUHAMMAD ASAF JAH, G.C.S.I., G.B.E., Nizam of Hyderabad and Deccan.

UNIVERSITY

The University was established by Charter of His Exalted Highness in 1918, and represents the first attempt made to impart University education through the medium of an Indian language. English is a compulsory subject of study. The University, which is a unitary type, has Urdu or Hindustani as its medium of instruction and examination, this being the official and common language of the State. In addition to its usual functions, the University also compiles and translates books in Urdu.

His Exalted Highness is the Patron of the University, the President of the Executive Council, the ex-officio Chancellor and the Education Member, the ex-officio Pro-Chancellor. A whole time Vice-Chancellor is in administrative control of all institutions under the University. The governing body of the University is the University Council which is entrusted with general supervision and control over the constituent institutions. The Registrar is ex-officio Secretary to the University Council.

Academic matters are dealt with by the Senate and business matters by the Syndicate which is virtually a committee of the Senate. The Faculties consist mainly of the professorial staff and the administrative staff framing of the curricula and the arrangement of examinations and other cognate matters.

The Departments of Arts, Science, Theology, Law, and the Engineering College, are located in the University area at Adikmet. The Medical and Teachers' Training Colleges are located for the present in the City. The Engineering College, which takes intermediate, B.A. and B.Sc., M.A., M.Sc., Dip. Ed., M.Ed., is also located in temporary buildings in the City. It is proposed to transfer all these Colleges also to the site of the University as soon as the buildings are ready. There are six Intermediate Colleges, each in Aurangabad, Warangal, Gulbarga, and three in the City of Hyderabad. Arrangements exist in the University itself for girl students to take M.A. and M.Sc. courses, and another first grade College is shortly to be established.

Instruction is provided at present in English language and Literature, Economics, History, Sociology, Philosophy, Arabic, Persian, Urdu, Sanskrit, Telugu, Marathi, Kanarese, French, German, Commerce, Geography, Botany, Chemistry, Applied Chemistry, Physics, Mathematics, Geology, Theology, Engineering, Medicine and Pedagogy. Military Science, Social Sciences and Mining are also shortly to be added, while it is proposed to establish in the near future a College for Agriculture and a College for Veterinary.

The University confers the degrees of B.A., and M.A., B.Sc. and M.Sc., LL.B. and LL.M., M.B.B.S., B.E., Ph.D., B.Com., Diploma in Education and M.Ed., as well as Diplomas in French and German.

The provision of text-books and standard works in Urdu required for the University courses was a first necessity, and a Bureau for Translation and Compilation was established in 1918. This institution has already published 331 books in Arts and the Sciences, while 64 books are in the Press and 23 books are being compiled, translated or revised on different subjects.

The present strength of the teaching staff is 192, of whom 26 are in the Professors' grade, 30 are Readers, 88 Lecturers, 32 Junior Lecturers and 16 Demonstrators. The number of students at the beginning of the academic year 1945-1946 was 3,031, of whom 1,700 were reading in the Departments of Arts and Science, 45 in the Department of Theology, 166 in the Department of Law, 249 in the Medical College, 137 in the Engineering College and 43 in the Training College of Teachers.

There are nearly 661,321 books in the University Library, the strength of the Western and the Oriental Sections being almost equal. Classification and cataloguing have been done according to the Dewey Decimal System. The Manuscript Section has a large collection of rare works in Arabic, Persian, Urdu, Sanskrit, Telugu, Marathi and Kanarese. Certain Palm-leaf manuscripts are particularly valuable and a descriptive catalogue is under preparation.

The University has well-equipped Physics, Chemistry, Botany, Zoology and Geology laboratories. The Medical and Engineering Colleges have their own laboratories. The University laboratories are housed in temporary buildings, but will soon be transferred to permanent buildings which are nearing completion.

An Officers' Training Corps came into existence in February, 1938. It has been lately reorganised and now consists of more than eight platoons which are in charge of three members of the staff, assisted by instructors who have been seconded from the Hyderabad Army Headquarters. An Indian Air Training Corps has also been organised.

The ultimate aim of the University is to provide residential accommodation for all its students. At present, there are only two permanent hostels and four temporary hostels, accommodating in all about 600 students.

The University campus comprises an area of 1,600 acres which is intended also to accommodate the University town. The cost of all the buildings, when completed, is estimated at Rs.2 crores. Among the permanent buildings so far constructed, the Arts College, having as its notable feature a harmonious blending of Hindu and Muslim styles of architecture, was completed in December 1939 at an approximate cost of Rs.30 lakhs. Construction of the permanent Engineering College and additional hostels is proposed to be taken up shortly, in addition to the Colleges of Agriculture and Veterinary, which, however, may not be situated in the campus itself. Other proposed buildings are the Senate House, the Library, the Museum, the Training, Law and Medical Colleges, the Hospital, the Stadium, the Swimming Pool and the Professors' quarters.

The present Nizamiah Observatory, situated in Begumpet, was established in 1906 and was transferred to the control of the University in 1919. There is a Meteorological Observatory as well as a Pilot Balloon Station, the observations being taken in co-operation with the Meteorological Department of the Government of India.

The Dairat-ul-Ma'arif, founded in 1886 for the publication of old and rare Arabic manuscripts and financed by an endowment of Rs 5 lakhs, was placed under the University on the death of its founder, Nawab Imadul Mulk Bahadur, in 1920. The total number of books so far edited and published by this institution is 182, some of them being in several volumes. These publications are in great demand not only in India but also in Egypt, Arabia, Afghanistan and Europe, and the institution itself is well known to Orientalists all over the world.

The University Library and Laboratories are well-equipped and provide ample facilities for original work in subjects like History, Philosophy, Persian, Arabic, Urdu, Telugu, Marathi, Kanarese, Sanskrit, Theology, Chemistry, Physics, Botany, Zoology, Medicine and Engineering. A candidate has to submit a thesis for his M.A., M.Sc., M.Ed. or L.L.M. degree. The degree of Ph.D. has also been instituted in the Faculties of Arts, Science and Theology.

The Research Journal of the University, issued once a year, publishes the original work done by the members of the staff and Research students.

An Institute of Advanced Research in Mathematics and Science has been recently established.

Fifteen out of the eighteen Universities in India have recognised the degrees and the University of Cambridge, the Government of India and the Universities of Oxford, Cambridge, Sheffield and Manchester have also recognised the examinations of the University. The B.E. degree has been recognised by the Institution of Engineers (India), and the M.B.B.S. degree has been recognised by the Medical Council of India temporarily for the duration of the present war.

The annual budget of the University amounts to roughly Rs.25 lakhs.

JUNAGADH STATE

A first-class State under the Western India States Agency, lying in the south-western portion of the Kathiawar between $20^{\circ} 44'$ and $21^{\circ} 58'$ north latitude and 70° and 72° east longitude and bounded on the north by the Halar Division, on the east by the Gohilwad Prant and on the south and west by the Arabian Sea.

The State is divided into 2 revenue divisions and 12 Mahals and includes 3 States and 18 Talukas attached to it under the recent attachment scheme. It has 16 ports, the principal ones being Veraval, Mangrol and Nawabander. The chief rivers are the Bhadar, Uben, Ozat, Hiran, Saraswati, Machhundri, Singoda, Maghal, Vrajmi, Raval and Sabli

The capital town Junagadh, which is one of the most picturesque towns in India, is situated on the slopes of the Girnar and the Datar Hills. In antiquity and historical interest it yields to none. The Uparkot or old Citadel contains interesting Buddhist caves and the whole of the City and neighbourhood is hewn with caves of their remains. There are a number of fine modern buildings in the town. The famous Asoka inscription of the Buddhist era, carved out on a big boulder of black granite, is housed at the foot of the Girnar Hill, which is sacred to the Jains, Shaivites, Vaishnavites and other Hindu sects.

To the south-east of the Girnar Hill lies the extensive Gir Forest, comprising 494 square miles, 523 acres and 10 gunthas. It supplies timber and other natural products to the residents of the State and neighbouring districts, and is unique in being the last refuge of the Indian lion.

The area of the State is 4,017 square miles and the estimated revenue amounts to over rupees one and a half crores. The population, according to the census of 1941, is 8 lacs. These figures include those of the States and other units, twenty-one in all, attached to this State.

Until 1472, when it was conquered by Sultan Mahomed Begada of Ahmedabad, Junagadh was a Rajput State ruled by Chiefs of the Chudasma tribe. During the reign of Akbar it became a dependency of Delhi under the immediate authority of the Moghul Viceroy of Gujarat. About 1735, when the representative of the Moghuls lost his authority in Gujarat, Shakhani Babi, the ancestor of the present Babi Ruler, expelled the Moghul Governor, and established his own rule. The ruler of Junagadh first entered into engagements with the British Government in 1807.

The principal products of the State are cotton, bajri, juwar, sesamum, wheat, rice, sugarcane, coconuts, grass, timber, stone, castor-seed, fish, country tobacco, groundnuts, bamboos, etc., while the chief manufactures are ghee, molasses, sugar candy, copper and brassware, dyed cloth, gold and silver embroidery, pottery, hardware, bamboo furniture, etc.

The State pays a tribute of Rs. 28,394 annually to the Paramount Power and a Peshkashi of Rs. 37,210 to His Highness the Gaekwar of Baroda, on the other hand, it receives a tribute known as Zoratalbi, amounting to Rs. 22,421-8-0, from no fewer than 134 States and Talukas and from the Baroda State for its Amreli Prant in Kathiawar,—a relic of the days of Mahomedan supremacy.

The State maintains its own forces consisting of 178 Lancers and the Mahabatkhanji Infantry, whose strength is 219 inclusive of the Bag-Pipe Band.

The Chief of Junagadh bears the title of Nawab. The present Nawab, Major His Highness Sir Mahabatkhanji III, C.I.E., K.C.S.I., ninth in succession and seventh in descent from Bahadurkhanji I, the founder of the Babi family of Junagadh in 1735 A.D., was born on 2nd August, 1900, and succeeded to the post in 1911, visited England in 1913-14, educated at the Mayo College, Ajmer, invested with full powers in March, 1920. The Ruler of the Premier State in Kathiawar and ranks first amongst the Chiefs of Kathiawar. Exercises plenary powers, enjoys a personal salute of 15 guns, the permanent salute being 15 guns within and 13 guns outside Junagadh territory. Languages spoken: Gujarati and Urdu.

KANARA (NORTH).

A District in the Province of Bombay on the Konkan coast lying between 18° 53' and 18° 52' N and 74° 4' and 75° 5' E. It is bounded on the north by Goa and the Belgaum District, on the east by the Dharwar District and Mysore, on the south by South Kanara and on the west by the Arabian Sea. The Sahyadri Range of the Western Ghats varying in height from 2,500 to 3,000 feet runs through the district from South to North, dividing it into two parts, the uplands or Belaghat (area 2,639 square miles) and the low lands or Payan ghat (area 1,306 square miles). The lowlands are sandy loams and the uplands are vast stretches of forests.

The District has a total area of 25,27,175 acres, of which 49,499 acres are uncultivable, 58,938 acres are lying fallow, and only 3,27,044 acres are under cultivation. The chief crop is rice. Rice is grown on 1,61,234 acres and 4,000 more acres are added this year. Of the remaining area, 20,63,694 acres or nearly 80 per cent. of the whole area are forests and hills. The forests give their character to the district and abound in large quantities of timber, chiefly teak, sisum and bamboos. The gross land revenue is Rs 10,75,463. The temperature falls to 59° in November and rises to 91° in May. The annual rainfall at Karwar averages 120 inches. The total population is 4,41,157 souls. The climate of the district varies in salubrity. The coast portion, though moist, is healthy, but the forest tracts, especially the upland forests are always malarious. The District has no railway communication, neither do steamers touch its ports since the commencement of the war. On April 16, 1862, the District of North Kanara was transferred to the Presidency of Bombay by an Order of the Secretary of State issued under 16th and 17th Victoria Cap. 85, Section 18.

Karwar, the headquarters of the District, possesses a fine harbour. The natural attractions of the country around, with its forests and hills, the sea-shore, the varieties of wild game and fishing attractions make Karwar a resort for tourists, and with its salubrious environments it is a health resort.

The Kanara coast has vast potentialities for fisheries. The rich soil can bid fair to command some of the best industries in manganese, paper pulp and timber. In the interior of these forests are some of the best spice gardens of the world. The forests are also rich in natural herbs which are used in the cure of pneumonia, cholera, paralysis, fracture of bones, snake-bite, etc. There are 9 Boys' High Schools and one Girls' High School in the district. There are 20 Bungalows in the District, besides and P.W.D. Stores.

TALUKAS—Ankole, Halyal (Supa Petha), Honavar (Bhatkal Petha), Karwar, Kumta, Siddapur, Yellapur (Mundgod Petha).

KARACHI

Karachi like the other great seaports of India—Bombay, Calcutta and Madras—may be regarded as almost a creation of British rule. It came into British possession in 1842, it was an insignificant town with a small coasting trade. Since the introduction of settled administration, splendid harbour works have been constructed, the town has been linked with the Indian Railway system by a series of important trunk lines, and it has become the seat of a large and flourishing commerce. At great expenditure, the difficult, though conveniently situated, harbour has been so improved that vessels of large tonnage can lie alongside the deep water berths in perfect security, and Karachi is now the principal outlet for the extensive grain trade of the Punjab, besides being the seat of a considerable import traffic. It is also an important air port and military station. The climate, owing to the prevalence of sea-breezes during eight months of the year, has a better reputation for healthiness than any other in Sind. The low situation of the city and its neighbourhood to the marshland render the atmosphere both moist and warm, but the heat during the hottest months cannot compare with that experienced in the interior. In 1936 Sind became a separate province, with a Governor and his staff, a Legislative Assembly and a full Secretariat, with their Headquarters in the city of Karachi. The present population exceeds 400,000. There are many hotels near the station.

Rama. The water, where it gushes out, has a temperature of 146 degrees. The moving minarets of Farkande are said to be so sensitive that when one is shaken the other moves.

The main population of the district is composed of Levas and Marathas, with a good percentage of Bhils, Vanjaris and other hill tribes. Levas, who are supposed to be the descendants of Lahu, the son of Rama, are said to have migrated in the 11th century. Their language is a peculiar mixture of Gujarathi, Marathi and Hindi and is called Ahirani.

The area of the district is 4,581 square miles and its population 1,306,035. With very rich fertile deep black soil, especially the trans-Tapti talukas, East Khandesh district is one of the foremost revenue paying districts in the Bombay Province. Khandesh rivers and streams abound in fish. There are no fishing rights nor any Government control. Good shikar is available in the forest area round Ghodasgaon and Pal in Edilabad Peta.

TALUKAS.—Chopda, Bhimsawal, Yawal, Amalner, Jamner, Pachora, Baver, Chalisgaon, Brandol, Jalgaon and Parola.

MARATHA.—Edilabad and Ghodasgaon.

KHANDESH (WEST).

The District of West Khandesh consists of eight talukas of which three talukas, viz., Shirpur, Shahada and Taloda are in the northern border of the Tapti river and Sindheda, Nandurbar and Navapur talukas in the southern border, the remaining two talukas of Dhulia and Sakri bordering the southern frontier of the district. The district is less developed than East Khandesh. Its western area, Dhuli, 'Sabarguma' talukas predominant. The district has a fine forest area on the northern boundary where big game is to be found.

The main crops of the district are cotton, groundnut and bajri; wheat is grown on the Tapti valley. The area of the district is 5,320 square miles and the population is 912,214.

The headquarters of the district is Dhulia, the old capital of the united districts of Khandesh, situated on the branch of the G. I. P. Railway which joins the main line at Chalisgaon. Dhulia is the biggest cotton centre in both Khandesh Districts and has a regulated cotton market. There is a spinning and weaving mill at Dhulia, called The New Pratap Spinning & Weaving Mill which contains 1,068 looms and 46,135 ring spindles. The number of cotton ginning and pressing factories in Dhulia is 27 and 15 respectively and the total number in the district including Dhulia is 79 ginning factories and 30 cotton pressing factories. There is a factory of "Modern Chemical Works" which manufactures Potassium permanganate, the only factory manufacturing $(KMnO_4)$ in India. Dhulia has also been lately developed into a groundnut oil industry centre and there are 22 oil mills in the district, including 10 at Dhulia. It has branches of the Imperial Bank of India, the Bombay Provincial Co-operative Bank, the New Citizen Bank of India, the Bharat Bank and the Bank of Baroda and three local co-operative banks. There are three high-schools, including one for girls, where free and compulsory primary education is being given to both boys and girls and two primary teachers' training colleges including one Government. There are two important institutions at Dhulia namely "The Rajawade Historical Research Institute" and "The Samartha-Vak-Devata Mandir," where valuable collections of Marathi manuscripts and historical documents and documents of Maharastha Saints are preserved and made available to the public. There is also one Agricultural School called the Dhulia Agricultural School, the only School of its kind in Maharashtra, where practical training in agriculture, poultry and other cottage industries is given over a 2-years' course. There is also the King Edward VII. Technical School at Dhulia where technical education is being given and is now an important War Technicians' Education Centre. Dhulia is one of the important stations on the motor road which runs from Bombay to Agra and is situated 212 miles from Bombay and 539 miles from Agra.

KOLABA.

A British District in the Konkan and in the Southern Division of the Bombay Province carved out of the [redacted] Angria and Peshwa territories. It is bounded on the [redacted] by Thana District, on the east by the Sahyadri Hills, Bhore State, the territory of Pant Sachiv, and Poona and Satara Districts, on the south and south-west by Ratnagiri, and on the west by Janjira and the Arabian Sea. Kolaba is a rugged belt of country, cut across by numerous creeks from 15 to 30 miles broad stretching from the south of Thana and Bombay Harbour to the foot of the Mahabaleshwar hills, 75 miles south-east. Rice is grown on the flat lands, and the sea front is fringed by a belt of coconut and arecanut palms. The teak forests are very valuable, and there is a considerable fishing industry. Uran and Pan are big salt producing centres also, which find its way up the Ghats in Khopoli on the Bombay-Poona Road. Alibag, the chief town, is 24 miles south of Bombay, communication being by steam ferry service via Revas. The population is about 688,922, out of which about 90, [redacted] are literates. Land [redacted] Rs 16,81,543.

Notable places in the District are Raigarh near Mahad, once Capital of the great Shivaji and Kanakeshwara near Alibag, is fast growing into a holiday resort as it is a hill 1,100 feet above sea level and gives a complete view of Bombay. Matheran is another well-known hill station. The Elephanta near Bombay is also in this District.

Commercially Panvel contains the pioneer Ayurvedic Pharmacy in Western India, viz., The Shri Dhootapapeshwar Panvel, Ltd., Manufacturing Ayurvedic medicines and drugs.

The plantation of mango grafts has been done on a large scale and produce is exported to Bombay. Lorry loads of melons from Panvel are also sent to Bombay.

The District has three Power Houses—The Tata Power Co.'s Power House at Bhura (Patuna), The Tata Hydro Electric Power Supply Co.'s at Khopoli and the Andhra Valley Power Supply Co.'s at Bhivpuri.

The tiles factory at Uran Mahal is rising, supplying about 1000000 tiles annually.

TALUKAS.—Alibag, Pen, Panvel (Petha Uran), Karjat, Roha, Mangaon and Mahad.

KOLHAPUR.

Kolhapur is the premier State in the Deccan States Residency. It is bounded on the North by the river Warna, which separates it from the British District of Satara, on the North East by the river Krishna, on the East and South by the District of Belgaum, on the West by the Sahyadri mountains which rise to the Sawantwadi Range on the South-West, and Ratnagur on the West. The State is divided into 8 Talukas and 1 Mahala. Area 3,217 square miles; population 1,092,046.

Kolhapur became a separate principality in 1730 by a Treaty between Shahu of Satara and Sambhaji of Kolhapur, both grandsons of Shivaji, founder of the Maratha Empire, through his sons Sambhaji and Rajaram. Sambhaji died in 1760 and was succeeded by his adopted son Shivaji, who ruled until the year 1812. Shivaji had to fight many battles with the Patwardhans who were then the Jaghirdars of Peshwas. Through the intervention of Marquis Cornwallis, under the Treaty of 1812, the disputes between the Kolhapur and Peshwa came to an end. By this Treaty the Talukas of Chikodi and Manoli, the bone of contention between Kolhapur and the Peshwa were ceded to the Peshwa. On the annexation of the Peshwa kingdom in 1818, these Talukas were given back in full sovereignty to Sambhaji alias Abasaheb Maharaj under a sanad issued by General Sir Thomas Munroe in appreciation of his support to the cause of Company's government. In the prime of youth Abasaheb Maharaj was murdered in 1821 and was succeeded by his brother Shahuji alias Buvasaheb Maharaj. Owing to his acts of aggression, the British Government had to intervene in 1826 and 1827, and by the Treaty of 1820 Buvasaheb had to give back the Talukas of Chikodi and Manoli to the British Government. Buvasaheb died in 1838 and as his sons Shivaji alias Babasaheb and Shahu alias Chhmasaheb were minors, Drwasaheb Maharaj, wife of Abasaheb Maharaj and aunt of the young Maharaja, administered the affairs of Kolhapur till 1844. As the administration was found most unsatisfactory, the Government of Bombay appointed Rao Bahadur Daji Krishna Pandit as Principal Karbhari. As he made certain very drastic changes in the administration, the Gadkaries of Samangad and Bhudargad and other forts rose in rebellion and the British Government had to quell the disturbance with the help of their military force at the cost of the State. The Government thereupon appointed Major D. C. Graham as Political Superintendent who administered the State with the help of Daji Pandit as Principal Karbhari. The administration of the State was handed over to Babasaheb Maharaj in 1862 after he had signed the Agreement of that year. On his death in 1866, he was succeeded by his adopted son Rajaram Maharaj, a promising Ruler, who died at Florence in 1870. Shivaji V was then adopted; but as he was found to be insane, the management of the State, which was taken over by the Political Agent after the demise of the Babasaheb Maharaj in 1866 owing to the minority of the Maharajas, was handed over in 1882 to the Regency in Council presided over by Mah. Abasaheb, the Jaghirdar of Kagal Senior. On the death of Shivaji at Ahmednagar in 1883, the late lamented Shri Shahu Maharaja, son of the Regent Abasaheb, the Jaghirdar of Kagal Senior and son of Shrimati Balabai, sister of His Highness Babasaheb Maharaj, was adopted in 1884. He was installed on the Gadi by His Excellency Lord Harris, the then Governor of Bombay, in 1894. He was a powerful personality and made many reforms in the State. He was a staunch supporter of the backward classes in the Deccan and tried his best to elevate them. He enhanced the prestige of the State which was at its lowest ebb when he assumed the Government. Ordinary criminal jurisdiction over the feudatory jaghirdars was transferred to Kolhapur by Lord Northcote. He introduced primary and compulsory in 1917.

The late ruler, His Highness Shri Rajaram Chhatrapati, died on 26-11-1940 and His Excellency the Viceroy with the approval of His Majesty's Secretary of State for India was pleased to select Pratapsinh, the second son of Nana-sahab Shankarrao Bhosale of Churekar Collateral Branch of Shivaji Maharaj and to recognise him as the King Emperor of Shivaji Maharaj of Kolhapur in succession to him. He was adopted by His Highness Maharani Shri Tanu Bai Chhatrapati and Shri Shivaji VI.

Administration.—The Maharaja being a minor the administration is carried on by a Council of Ministers with His Highness Maharaja Tarabai-sahab Chhatrapati, the Senior Maharani as the Regent and President. A number of Departments have been formed which are placed under the control of various Ministers. The Panchayat and Village Panchayats Acts placed the management of certain P. W. D. works and Devasthanas etc. under the control of the Panchayats. The inauguration of the Maharashtra Panchayat took place in the hands of His Excellency Sir Leslie Wilson, then Governor of Bombay in April 1937. The Kolhapur High Court Regulation, 1931, led to the establishment of the High Court of Kolhapur consisting of three Judges and the Supreme Court of His Highness the Chhatrapati Maharaja. On June 30th 1942, the Kolhapur Government announced the constitution of a Legislative Assembly. The Political, Feudatory, Finance, and Legislative Departments are under the control of the Prime Minister. The State has no tribute. The State force is one complete battalion known as the Rajaram Rifles which is included in the Indian State Scheme. The cost is about 14 lakhs a year. The State has also one transport company known as No. 50 (Kolhapur) G. P. T. Coy., R. I. A. S. O., on service abroad.

Feudatory Jaghirdars.—The nine Feudatory Jagirdars, viz., Vishalgad, Bavada, Kagal Senior, Ichalkaranji, Kapahi, Torgal, Kagal Junior, Himmat Bahadur and Sahasrabai Bahadur, are in some degree under the supervision of the Maharaja of Kolhapur under the agreement of 1882. The Jaghirdars have certain civil and criminal powers in revenue matters. They also have certain powers. In 1930 the primary powers were transferred over the Jaghirdars by the British Government to the Duran.

Finance.—In 1934-35 the net revenue of the State was Rs. 1,04,14,500 and the expenditure was Rs. 82,12,500. The principal heads are Land Revenue Rs. 17,50,000, Revenue Rs. 5,87,000, Railways Rs. 1,50,000, Stamp Revenue Rs. 4,50,000, Income-tax Rs. 4,90,000, Income-tax Rs. 10,00,000 and Shri Chhatrapati Mills Rs. 11,84,000.

Agricultural Produce.—Jawar, cotton, tobacco, sugar, groundnut.

Commerce and Industry.—12 Ginning factories and 2 ginning and pressing factories, 48 Weaving Mills; 1 Sugar Factory, 1 Electric Power House; 1 Ice Factory, 82 Grinding and Pounding Mills, 19 Groundnut Crushing Mills of which 9 are Groundnut Crushing and Oil Mills, 1 Cinema film producing company, 3 work-shops for building ferry-boats and 7 workshops for repairs of motors and the building of motor bodies.

Communication.—The total mileage of Railway owned by the State and worked under the management of the M. & S. M. Railway Company, Ltd., is 2,227 (Single line), and 189 (Sidings) and the capital outlay is Rs. 23,61,122. It brings a net revenue of about Rs. 5,00,000 a year to the State.

LONAVLA.

This Hill station is situated at the top of the Bhore Ghaut incline about 2,036 261 feet above sea-level. There are extensive Railway quarters, both for European and Indian employees, a Railway Dispensary exclusively for Railway employees, a Railway Co-operative Store and 2 Railway Institutes with Reading Rooms and Library and Tennis Courts separately for European and Indian Railway employees.

Lonavla, Bhargarwadi, Bhushi, Nagargaoon, Valvan, Tungarli and Khandadala are in the charge of the Lonavla City Municipality established in 1877. The Railway has a Municipality of its own. The Post and Telegraph offices in Lonavla belong to the 2nd class. Church of England, Methodist and Roman Catholic churches, two Masonic lodges—Lodge 'Dawn of Peace' and Lodge 'Barton'—are other important features of the town.

Of the Lakes may be mentioned the 'Tate Sons Hydro-Electric Works Lake' at Valvan (within easy walk and drive over a built road), their smaller Lake near the Rainwoods and the Lonavla Municipality's 'Water Works' on the top of the Tungarlee Hill about 2½ miles north of the Railway Station. Fishing is allowed both at the Bhushi and the Valvan lakes, the latter being the most suited for the purpose. A permit can be obtained locally from the Water Engineer's office at Lonavla on payment of a fee of Rs. 1 per day, which includes the use of the Company's boat.

The Railway houses are supplied with water from the Railway Bhushi Tank, about 3 miles from the Railway Station. The town of Lonavla and its adjacent villages and suburbs are supplied with water from the Municipal Water Works at Tungarli. Lonavla has a High School, conducted by the Vidya Prasarni Sabha of Poona, a Municipal Dispensary with a Maternity Ward. The Municipality has constructed new vegetable, mutton, beef and fish markets and mutton and beef slaughter houses on modern sanitary principles. There is a Municipal rest-house and Dharmashala on the Lonavla-Bhargarwadi Road. The Rai, the Lonavla woods, is well-known for picnics and as a camping ground for Government Officers during the hot season. Work on the new building of the Municipal Institute is nearing completion and when ready it will add one more attraction to visitors during the season.

About $3\frac{1}{2}$ miles from the Railway is situated the "Tiger's Leap," a promontory which commands a picturesque view of the valley below. The famous ancient Karia Caves are situated on a hill about five miles from Lonavla, which are reached by a built road up to the foot of the hill, and visitors either walk or can be carried up to it by means of chairs. A clerk in charge of the caves is stationed there for assisting visitors to the Caves. Tongas and victorias can be hired through the year from the Railway Station of Malavali, nearly three miles from Lonavla, visitors can proceed to view the Lohgadhi Fort (now partially demolished) on the top of a hill. The approach to it is by no means easy and visitors must arrange beforehand for chairs—along on poles—to be sent to the Railway station from the Karia Caves hill or village. This Fort was formerly used as a State prison by the Peshwas. About 5 miles by road from Lonavla is the Patkar Hill, a well-known shooting ground where big game may be found and occasionally panthers.

The garden overlooking Tata's Valvan Lake, and situated on the top of a hill, commanding a magnificent view all round, is another attraction for visitors to Lonavla. The garden is mainly financed by the Karvalyadham Ashram of Lonavla, the Municipality is contributing to its upkeep.

The following are the heights of the important hills and places of note:—

Fort of Lohgadhi	3,412 feet above sea-level.
Fort of Vitepur	3,542
Fort of Rajmachi which stands on the top of the Shindri Range and commands a view over the Matheran, Konkan and the Gulf of Bombay	3,719	do.
Patkar Hill	2,720	do.
Tungarli Municipal Hill	2,276	do.
		Top of Hill.

There are good Hotels at Lonavla, viz., the Lake View, and the Hotel Central. The Hotel Central and the Lake View remain open throughout the year. Visitors may also be made of the Khandala Hotel at Khandala, which is only 1 mile from Lonavla.

The temperature varies from 65 in the cold weather to 85 in the hottest month.

The rainfall varies from 160 to 250 inches, but the yearly average is about 180 inches.

The Municipality maintains electric lights in the Municipal limits.

LUNAWADA

Lunawada is a State in the Gujarat Division Agency with an area of 388 sq. miles and an annual average revenue of about Rs. 7,50,000. The history of the State belongs to the ancient historic Solanki clan of Rayputs claiming their descent from the Sidhraj Jaysinhdeo of Anhilwad (Gujarat), who was styled Chakravarti or a Sovereign Ruler. The original place is Gadi of the present Ruling family of Lunawada was Burpur and they were called Burpura Solankis, after Burpur, is present under the Rajwade State. The State having rich agricultural land, the State has a considerable forest area yielding rich timber. Lunawada, the capital of the State is a Railway Station at a distance of 25 miles from Godhra which connects the main line of the B. B. & C. I. Ry. (Bombay—Delhi route). There is a metalled road between Lunawada and Godhra and bus services are regularly plying. The natural scenery of the State is very beautiful and charming, with hills, lakes and rivers. The Capital is protected by a fort and there are good Palaces, Club, Educational and Medical Institutions, Public Libraries, Bungalows, etc. The population of the State is 105,318 according to the census of 1911. The Ruler enjoys a hereditary salute of 9 guns and the Ruler has got the right of adoption. The present Ruler Lieut. Maharaja Shri Virbhadrasinghji succeeded his father in his ancestors with full and unrestricted powers in Oct. 1910. His Majesty the King Emperor has conferred on Him the Honorary Rank of Lieutenant in the Army. He is also the Honorary Colonel in the Rajput Infantry, Baris Sindh.

The administration is conducted by Executive Council presided over by the Ruler. There is a Legislative Assembly, which plays an important role in adopting reforms and voicing the sentiments of the people before the Ruler.

Both primary and secondary education are entirely free throughout the State and the Ruler gives munificent donations towards the maintenance of several religious institutions of ancient historic importance.

His Highness has a special liking for military and as such he has taken intensive training for the same. The two regiments of the State are very splendid. It has contributed Rs. 12,00,472-14-2 to various war purposes funds including the investment in Defence Bonds and National Savings Certificates. M.T. Drivers have been supplied to the Govt. Transport services offered.

The Ruler is an all-round sportsman and a good and keen shooter and big and small game are found in abundance in the State.

MAHABLESHWAR.

Mahableshwar is the queen of hill stations in the Bombay Presidency. It is situated on one of the great slopes of the Sahyadri Range, known as the Western Ghats, and has an elevation of 4,700 feet above sea level. Being on the western slope of the ghats, it has the advantage of sea breeze while, to a certain extent, it is protected against the force of easterly winds. The place abounds with picturesque scenery and there are a number of beautiful drives and walks which give access to many points.

There are several routes to Mahableshwar, but the most popular is the regular motor service for 11 miles from Poona, which takes a hour within a hour conveniently and very cheaply. One can also go by another motor road from Bombay via Dharamtar via Panvel, 11 miles from Mahad, Panvel and Vada. In old times, visitors had to go in a palanquin or phaeton from Wathar on the M. & S. M. Railway, 68 miles from Poona.

The climate of Mahableshwar is most agreeable and salubrious throughout eight months from October to May. During the monsoon months, the rainfall is so heavy—the average for 10 years 1929-38 was 250 inches—that there are no visitors. The temperature during the hot weather varies from 80 to 85, the minimum being 70. The nights are always cool and pleasant.

There are several good hotels at Mahableshwar, which are open for eight months, and remain closed during the monsoon. There are also European, Parsi and Hindu Gymkhanas with tennis courts, etc. Mahableshwar has a sanatorium, where blocks or flats are rented to Hindus only, libraries, several open spaces and playgrounds, and a garden maintained by the municipality. There is an up-to-date post office, postal deliveries being twice a day during the hot weather when the station is closed. There are also facilities for telephone trunk calls to all places.

Government now appoint an I.M.S. Superintendent for the Station, who is also in charge of the hospital. For the management of the town there is a Municipality which consists of an elected Board of 10 members and two ex-Officio members, viz., the Superintendent who is the President of the Board, and the Mahalkari who is in charge of the Revenue Department.

There are several fine points while among other places of interest are one or two monuments.

The Government House is well laid out on an extensive area. The station contains many bungalows but as the official visit of the Governor has been cancelled for the last few years, Government House and other quarters remain vacant. The Governor generally occupies the Guest House on casual private visits.

In addition to Protestant and Roman Catholic Churches, there are a number of Hindu temples in and around Mahableshwar, and also two mosques. The station is famous for its raspberries and strawberries. Separate furnished rooms, cottages and bungalows are to be had at cheap rents through Adurjee & Brothers. Phone No 50

MATHERAN (HILL STATION)

Matheran is a hill station and sanitarium, about 3 hours' journey from Bombay or Poona. It is situated about 2,500 feet above sea-level, and is a favourite hot weather resort. There are some 31 points round the hill commanding gorgeous views and 35 miles of roads and paths on the hill. Visitors to Matheran are conveyed up the hill from Neral (G.I.P. Ry) by the Matheran Steam Tramway or Rail Motors. The climate is salubrious. There are lovely walks and rides throughout the hill. Its spring water is reputedly good. Pure, filtered and chlorinated water is supplied to all bungalows on the hill by pipes.

Amongst the amenities of Matheran are several good hotels, a well laid out public park and garden, a bandstand, two children's playgrounds, electric and telephone services, and several cool and shady picnic places. During the season the band plays almost daily. The hill is a favourite place for honeymoons. There is a Cosmopolitan Matheran Club and a Parsi Gymkhana in Matheran, with Tennis Courts, 2 Sanitariums for Parsis, 3 for Hindus and one for Imathi Khojas available for convalescents.

The Hill offers excellent opportunities for Shikar and a good shot is certain to carry his trophy of spotted skin, even within a short stay.

The smiling Thakurs of the valleys, the innocent Dhangers of the plains and the unfailing monkeys add to the attractions of the Hill.

The maximum and minimum temperatures range between 65 to 80 ordinarily and the average rainfall is 200 inches.

The Municipality maintains an up-to-date Hospital for both in and out-patients. There is a Post and Telegraph Office, a Revenue Office and an Honorary Magistrate's Court, Police Station and a Forest Depot.

MORVI.

The State of Morvi is situated in the north-west of the Peninsula of Kathiawar $70^{\circ}30'$ longitude and $22^{\circ}18'$ and $23^{\circ}33'$ north latitude. It has territory in the Cutch Peninsula also, known as Adhoi Mahal. It comprises 152 villages in the Machhukantha covering an area of about 1,072 square miles and 6 villages in the Adhoi Mahal covering an area of about 60 sq. miles. The population according to the census of 1911 is 141,817. The gross annual income of the State from all sources is approximately Rs. 60 lakhs.

Navlakhi is the chief port of the State, where ships from England, European ports, Rangoon, Bombay, etc., call regularly every month or oftener. The Ellerman City & Hall Line, the Clan Line, and the British India Line, each maintains a monthly service to Navlakhi. The Bombay Steam Navigation Company maintains a regular thrice-a-month service to the port. Steamers of British India, Scindia and Asiatic Lines call regularly and frequently from Rangoon. They all anchor about two miles from the pier. Navlakhi is a terminus on the metre-gauge line of the Morvi Railway and is thus directly connected with Delhi, Rajputana, Gujarat and Kathiawar. It is the safest port on the entire Kathiawar coast and is open throughout the year. It is nearest to the vast hinterland of Gujarat, Northern and Central India by rail. In the matter of import traffic from Europe it is the first and chief port in Western India. A regular daily ferry runs between Navlakhi and Bhuj (Cutch) which has proved very popular with the travelling public because of its safe and short route.

Agriculture is the chief occupation of the State subjects, but industry is rapidly developing. The Parbhuram Pottery Works turn out splendid earthenware and stoneware articles. The Mahendra Glass Works have been well established now and are successfully competing with foreign concerns. The Maharaja Salt Works Ltd. at Lavanpur are producing about 40,000 tons annually for the Bombay and Bengal markets. They are among the most economically managed Salt Works in the country. The Morvi Spinning and Weaving Mills have been reconstructed and are turning out fairly good cloth. The Ginning and Pressing Factories are able to cope with the work of ginning and pressing the entire cotton and wool produce of the State. The State Railway Workshops employ to hundreds of workmen. Among the smaller industries may be mentioned the Morvi Oil Mills which crush groundnuts, the newly started Bone Factory, the Glass Factory, the Mayur Metal Works, the Kathiawar Paint Works and the Pin Factory.

NASIK.

A district in the Bombay Province, bounded on the north by East and West Khandesh, on the east by the Nizam's Dominions, on the south by Ahmednagar and on the west by Thane. Area 5,877 square miles. Collectors. Population 1,000,048 as per Census of 1931. With the exception of a few villages in the west, the whole district is situated on a table-land at an about 1,300 to 2,100 feet above the sea. Nashik town, the headquarters station, is considered by Hindus to be a place of special interest and holiness. About twenty miles from the source the river Godavari, flowing eastwards through a group of small hills, turns sharply to the south, and after passing in that direction for about a mile, again swerves suddenly towards the east. On both sides of the river but chiefly upon the right or south-eastern bank, lies the town of Nashik,—a town full of mythological and historical associations, the refuge of Rama during his period of exile (Vanavas). The city was also known as Gulshanabad in Moghul times, and there is a mosque built by the Emperor Shah Jahan for his godfather the famous Saint, Khwaja Sachkha Hussaini, whose maqbara is opposite the mosque, and in which is honoured the Hindu following of the Sai. There is an annual fair in the month of Falgun (Hindu almanac). Temples fringe the banks, and even the bed of the stream is dotted with temples and shrines. This part of the town is extremely picturesque especially during the pilgrim season, the whole part is very beautiful and remarkable for its manufactures of cloth. Five miles to the south of the town are the remarkable rock temple of Pandu Leni.

The climate of Nashik is cool and agreeable, especially during the rains from June to October. For this reason it is favoured by Educational Institutions. There is the famous High School in Deolali maintained by the Bombay Education Society, the Parsi High School at Nashik, a Government Girls' High School, three local High Schools, Government Urdu High School, the Hansraj Pragni Thekersey College and the recently founded Rhonala Military School at Anandwadi near Nashik. There is also the Pimpri Training School of the Bombay Government and a Government Training College for Women Primary Teachers.

Nashik is the headquarters of the Royal Western India Golf Club which maintains excellent links and is a favourite resort during the season. The Club has accommodation for members as well as for the public.

At Nashik Road are the Government Distillery, the Central Jail and the Security Printing Press. There is one Guest House on Bombay-Agra Road. At Nashik Road a charming convalescent home is maintained through the agency of Mr H. M. Phipson.

TALUKAS—Kaiwan, Dindori, Niphad, Yeola, Igatpuri, Nandgaon, Nashik, Sinnar, Baglan, Malegaon and Chander.

NAWANAGAR (JAMNAGAR).

A full powered Indian State having political relations with the Government of India through the Agent to the Governor General in the States of Western India since October 1936. It is situated between 21°-44' and 22°-58' north latitude and 69°-10'-30" and 71°-33'-30" east longitude on the western shore of the Gulf of Cutch, with an area of 3,791 square miles, the largest by far in the province. It is bounded on the north by the Gulf and the Rann of Cutch; on the east by the States of Marvi, Rajkot, Dhol and Gondal; on the south by the Sorath Division of Kathiawar; and on the west by the Okha Rann and the Arabian Sea. It is mostly flat, but a little more than one-third of the Barda Hills are within its limits. Mount Venu, the highest point of the Barda Hills, is 2,057 feet above sea-level. The principal rivers are the Bhadar, the Narmada, the Aj, the Ind and the Desai. The Rann of Cutch, Saurashtra and Nawanager or Bedi and Rou are situated within the State. Mangrove swamps line the shores of the gulf, affording supplies of firewood and camel pasture.

The land produces both garden and dry crops. Irrigation is provided by draw-wells, by artificial tanks and by aqueducts from rivers. The principal products are grain, cotton, til and castor seed; bayra, wheat and gram are the staple food. Wheat is produced with and without irrigation. The only forests of any importance are those in the northern portion of the Barda Hills and the new forest in the Dahan Hills.

Marble of different qualities is found in the Kandoma and Bhanwad Talukas. Iron occurs in the Khambhaka paraganas, but owing to foreign competition it is not able to hold its own. A pearl fishery lies off the coast on the northern shores of the State. The pearls are of varying sizes but of a very beautiful colour and fine lustre. Cloth and silk, as well as gold and silver embroidery, brocade, turbans and saris are the chief manufactures. The dyeing industry which employs a considerable number of people is very flourishing. The dyes are much admired, and their excellence is traditionally attributed to the quality of the water of the Rangmati river, which flows by Nawanager Town, along with the Magmati river.

Jamnagar City is the capital of the State. It is 51 miles from Rajkot by railway, which is owned by the State. It is almost entirely built of stone, and is a walled town. It shows every sign of prosperity. It is nearly four miles in circuit. The population is chiefly industrial and commercial and they produce fine silk and gold embroidery. The place is also famous for its perfumery and oils and for its Kanku powder. The climate is very pleasant and temperate throughout the year. It is particularly enjoyable, being cool and bracing from November to March. The palaces of Kotha, Lakhota, Lal Bungalow, etc., are picturesque. The new Palace (Pratap Villas), Rom Bunder, Vijarkhi Tank and Balachadi (one of the pleasantest hot weather resorts in Kathiawar) are some of the chief objects of interest. The City and the Para contain a population of nearly 71,500 souls.

Population 504,006 according to 1941 census Revenue nearly Rs 94,00,000.

The State is divided into the following Mahals (territorial divisions), viz. —

Panchkoshi, Jodiya, Paddhari, Lalpur, Atkot, Kalawad, Kandorna, Khambbha, Bhanwad, Jodhpur, Kalyanpur, and the following sub-Mahals, viz., Wanthali, Chela, Balambha, Amran, Padana, Bhadia, Nikava, Mewasa, Salaya, Wadala, Bhatia and Rawal. There are four irrigation tanks in the State, viz., Adhia, Hanthal, Vijarkhi, Keshu, Sihan and Dharampur.

PALITANA.

A nine-gun State in the Gohelwad Division (Kathuwar) of the Western India States Agency. Area about 800 square miles. Principal agricultural products—grain, sugar-cane and cotton. Revenue about Rs. 8,24,017. The chief town, Palitana, is a station on the Bhavnagar State (Kathuwar) Railway. Palitana is justly celebrated for its Jain temples on the Shatrunjaya Hill, situated within the Palitana jurisdiction. This hill is sacred to Adinath, the first of the Jain Saints (Tirthankars). The summit, which is divided into two peaks, with the valley between partly built over by a wealthy Jain merchant, is covered with temples, amongst which the most famous are those of Adinath, Kumarpal, Vimalsha, Sampriti Raja and Chawmukh. The last named is the most lofty temple on the hill and can be clearly distinguished at a distance of 25 miles. Shatrunjaya is the most sacred of the five sacred hills of the Jains. Owing to the special sanctity of Shatrunjaya, all members of the Jain faith feel it a duty to perform, if possible, at least one pilgrimage to it during their life. Palitana is also noted for its breed of horses, particularly beautiful typical Kathi horses, in which its Rulers have been taking a warm and personal interest.

BURMA.—Thakore Sahab Shri Sir Bahadursinhji Mansinhji, KCSI, KCIE, Thakore Sahab of Palitana, born on 8rd April 1900, installed and invested with full powers on 27th November 1919. The Hereditary, Yavraj Shri Shrivendrasinhji was born on the 23rd September, 1908.

PANCHGANI.

Panchgani is a well-known hill station in the Bombay Presidency, 12 miles from Mahabaleshwar. It is 4,200 feet above sea level and 63 miles from Poona, from where there are regular bus services. The rainfall is not heavy, the average being 80 inches. It is well known as a Sanatorium with a temperature like that of Mahabaleshwar. Its climate is cool, salubrious and comparatively dry. There are several hotels for Europeans, Parsis, Hindus and Muslims open throughout the year. There are also a dozen Sanatorium blocks, which can be rented cheaply by Parsis, Hindus and Muslims.

The climate is ideal for children and Panchgani is famous for its schools. There are as many as 7 High Schools, viz. (1) St Joseph's Convent High School for Girls, (2) Kimmun High School for Girls, (3) European Boys' High School, (4) The Panchgani Hindu High School, (5) The Parsi High School, (6) The Muslim High School, and (7) The Young Zoroastrian School for Girls. The European Boys' High School was founded in 1902 by the Colonial and Continental Church Society from a bequest given by Miss Mary Ashlin. The buildings include assembly and dining halls, dormitories, laboratory, hospital and class rooms. There is a large gymnasium hall, adjoining the main buildings and a swimming pool.

The Panchgani Hindu High School, a Co educational residential school for Hindu children, was founded in 1922 and is affiliated to the Bombay University. It has facilities for Gujarathi and Marathi primary and secondary education. The School is housed in its own buildings in picturesque surroundings. All other schools have their own buildings with laboratory, dormitories, hospital, class rooms, etc. All schools keep boarders as well as allow day-scholar.

There is an up-to-date Tuberculosis Sanatorium of Dr Bilimoria (Bel Air Sanatorium) quite aside from the population in their own spacious grounds and buildings known as "Dalketh." It is one of the largest T.B. Sanatorium in Bombay Presidency and fully equipped with a Solarium Laboratory and Operation Theatre including X-Ray machine.

There is a Polish Rest Camp also at Panchgani.

The Rationing is in force here and Wheat, Rice, Bajri, Juar, Sugar and Kerosene are rationed, the quantity being sufficient for ordinary use.

The town is administered by an elected Municipal Board of 13 members. Its income is derived from taxes on property, vehicles, conservancy tax, etc. There is an Executive Officer, and also a Health Officer, who looks after the sanitation of the hill resort.

There is a telegraph and post office with all facilities for trunk calls. Panchgani has been electrified and the roads are well lighted. As it is habitable throughout the year, there are excellent shops for provisions and oilman stores, while poultry, fowls and eggs sell very cheap. There are Protestant and Catholic Churches as well as Hindu temples, a Masjid for Mohamedans and a Parsi Fire Temple.

Panchgani abounds in several beauty spots. The station, however, is famous for its table-land, which is a very extensive plateau 4,500 feet above sea-level. It covers 99 acres of ground with a small lake in which people can swim.

Hotels.—Grange, D Pallazo, Mount View, Prospect and Bristol Hotel, Surti Hindu Lodge; Prabhat Hotel; Anand Bhawan.

Recently the Municipality has undertaken the layout of a public garden, a water-supply scheme as well as a drainage scheme is also being considered by the present board and should the efforts of the Municipality prove successful, this hill station will be an ideal health-resort.

PANCHMAHALS SUB-DIVISION.

A sub-division of the amalgamated British district of Broach and the Panchmahals. Panchmahals will be regarded as a separate district with collectorate at Godhra with effect from 1st April 1945. The south-west portion is bounded on the north by the State of Lunawada, Sant and Sanjeli; on the east by the Bara State; on the south by the Baroda State; and on the west by the State of Jambughoda, Baroda and smaller States of Pandu Mowas territory, and States of Ohelkari and Kushalgarh, on the east by Western Malwa and the river Anas; on the south by Western Malwa; and on the west by the States of Sant, Sanjeli and Baroda. The two sections of the sub-division differ considerably in appearance—that to the south-west is a level tract of rich soil (except the hill of Pawagarh), whilst the northern portion, though it contains some fertile valleys, is generally rugged, undulating and barren with but little cultivation. The sub-division contains the famous ruins of Champamer, which was stronghold of Ahmedabad Kings, Rawal Rajputs and the Taru dynasty. The hill of Pawagarh is about 2,500 feet in height and is gradually developing into a hill-station. Pawagarh is considered by Hindus to be a place of special interest and holiness. The hill itself contains famous ruins of the ancient possessions of the Rajput King Patal Rawal.

Area 1,606 square miles exclusive of the Rewa Kantha Agency area of 4,000 square miles. Population of Panchmahals 527,326. Population of Talukas and Mahals—Godhra Taluka, 195,398; Dohad Taluka, 122,146; Kalol Taluka, 64,374; Jhalod Mahal, 67,573; Halol Mahal, 77,835. Headquarters—Godhra. Talukas—Godhra, Kalol and Dohad. Mahals—Halol, Jhalod and Shehera. Godhra is a junction on the Bombay-Delhi main line of the B. B. & C. I. Railway (Broad-Gauge), Anand-Godhra Branch-line (B.G.), and Godhra-Lunawada section of the Gujarat Railways (Narrow-Gauge). The sub-division has a forest area of 315.33 square miles, producing timber such as country teak-wood, Mahuda wood, etc. It contains rich deposits of minerals, and big mines of Manganese ore are being worked at Shivrampur, Bamanakuwa, and numerous other spots are supposed to contain Manganese and various sorts of ore. The Gujarat Railways have opened a line from Champamer Road (a station on Broad-Gauge main line) to Pardi Mines (Narrow-Gauge) with stations at Kanjri (State), Halol, Pawagarh and Shivrampur.

Galena ore has been found in Bhamari Talukdari Estate in Halol Mahal. Gold ore has been found in 2,356 acres—6½ square miles—Wardi Bujarag and Basmolees—Khodad in Godhra Taluka, about two miles from Godhra city, close to a railway siding and not far from the trunk road through Godhra. The industry has not yet started work.

Government Dak Bungalows have been provided at Godhra, Dohad and Kalol for visitors who are required to communicate for accommodation to the Sub-Divisional Officer, P.W.D., Godhra.

Political Bodies and Unions.—Panchmahal District Congress Committee, Godhra; Godhra Primary Muslim League, Godhra, Kisan Sabha, Godhra; B. R. & C. I. Railwaymen's Union (Bombay), Godhra Branch.

Hot sulphur springs, the medical properties of which are not known, are situated at Tuwa, a station about 7 miles from Godhra on the Godhra-Anand (Broad-Gauge) branch line of the B. R. & C. I. Ry. The dry bed of Panam River near Sant Road station on Godhra-Ratlam line contains quality sand used for preparing glassware. A glass factory is being worked at Sant Road Station, about 12 miles from Godhra. Timba, a village of Godhra Taluka situated on the Godhra-Anand branch line, contains a stone quarry. A big quarry is being worked at Timba Road station, producing gravel used for reinforced concrete works. The Locomotive Shops of the B. R. & C. I. Ry. are situated at the Freelandgunj Railway Colony in the Dohad Taluka limits of this sub-division. There are extensive railway quarters for European and Indian employees in Freelandgunj, and also a fully equipped railway hospital. Freelandgunj is the headquarters of the Works Superintendent, Divisional Electrical Engineer and other railway officers. There is a Child-~~_____~~ and Maternity Clinic, Co-operative Stores, Institutes for Indians and Europeans, with a library and reading rooms and other facilities for sports for railway employees in this colony.

Temperature—Minimum 66, Maximum 115 degrees. The average rainfall in the sub-division is, Godhra 32 inches, Kalol and Halol talukas 35 inches and Dohad and Jhalod 25 inches, the main crop being gram of all sorts, pulses, oilseeds and cotton to a small extent. The Godhra City and Dohad town are in charge of municipalities, the former being a borough and the latter a district municipality. Both the towns have electric facilities. Godhra is on the Government telephone exchange with trunk call facilities. About 30 villages in the sub-division have Village Panchayats. Language spoken—Gujarati.

The sub-division is ~~_____~~ flag-end of the Bombay Province.

POONA.

Poona, the ancient seat of the Peshwas, and now the Military capital of the Deccan and also the headquarters of the Government of Bombay from July to November, stands on the right bank of the Mutha River, 119 miles south-east from Bombay. The city proper extends along the Mutha for about 1½ miles inland; its length is about 2 miles from east to west, and its breadth about 1½ miles, the total area being about 2½ square miles. The population according to the Census of 1931 is 280,187. Historically Poona is a city with a past, and is the scene of some of the most hard-fought triumphs of war and diplomacy in the annals of British Rule in India. North of the town is the Military cantonment, and within cantonment limits northwards to the Mutha-Mulla river and for 2 miles along the road leading to Kirkee are the houses of the greater part of the European population. Kirkee, 3 miles from Poona, the centre of the Artillery garrison, is the site of the famous battle which decided the fate of the Deccan, and 4 miles from Poona is Ganeshkhind, the handsome residence of the Governor of Bombay.

The climate of Poona, due to its altitude, is temperate all the year round, being delightfully cool and bracing between October and March, and very enjoyable during the monsoon season. The hottest months are April and May, but the heat is dry and by no means as trying as even a lower temperature is along the coast or in the plains. The air, especially in the cold months, is invigorating, and Poona may be said to possess one of the most suitable climates for Europeans in India. It is doubtless largely for this reason that has been selected as the seat of the Bombay Government during the monsoon season and the headquarters of the Southern Command.

RADHANPUR.

A first-class State in North Gujarat in the Western India States Agency. The Ruler is a member of the distinguished Babi Family and a descendant of the last Suba of Ahmedabad (Gujarat) at the time of the Moghul Empire. Area 1,160 square miles; population 67,923 according to the 1941 census. Revenue 15 lakhs. The State is bounded on the north by Bhabhar and Terwade, on the east by Kankrej and Patan Districts of His Highness the Gaekwar, on the south by Vanod, Dasada and Jhinhwada of the Kathiawar Agency, and on the west by the Runn of Cutch and Varahi. As a result of the scheme of Attachment of Semi-judicial Talukas and non-judicial estates to the bigger States in Western India States Agency, four semi-judicial talukas, viz., Malek Shri Hussein-yaverkhanji and Malek Shri Munkhanji Talukas of Varahi, Adesar in Santalpur and Terwade Taluka, and 61 non-judicial estates of Thanas of Varahi and Santalpur and a part of Deodar Thana (now Bhabhar Thana) of the Banas Division in old Sabar Kantha Agency, bordering on northern and western boundaries of the State, have been attached to Radhanpur State. The Attached Area comprises an area of 1,108 sq. miles with population of 33,240 souls. The country is a flat open plain with a few hills, viz., Aluvus in Santalpur Thana—Attached Area, and with only a few trees. The State has arranged for the number of trees to be considerably increased. The soil is either sandy or black, and on the borders of the Runn, saltish. Efforts to improve the condition of agriculture and agriculturists are being made, occupancy and succession rights have been given to the agriculturists with a view to bettering agricultural prospects.

Sami and Munjpur are the principal towns next to Radhanpur in State area and Varahi, Bhabhar and Santalpur in the attached area. There is a High School at Radhanpur affiliated to the Bombay University. Primary education is free throughout the State. Sami has a cotton press and five cotton ginning factories. There are two ginning factories one at Munjpur and the other at Sanekshwar which is a noted centre of Jain pilgrimage all the year round. A new Match Factory and one Oil and Saw Mill have been installed in the town of Radhanpur. Moreover there are three flour mills and about 50 miscellaneous Snuff Mills, etc.

Principal agricultural products.—Cotton, wheat, rape-seed and different kinds of grain. The Vadhar tract of Radhanpur State is famous for its breed of oxen.

Radhanpur is 34 miles from Patan and 23 miles from Harij Station on the Gaekwar's Baroda State Railway. Gotarka, Sanekshwar, Dev and Trakod Loti are the principal places of pilgrimage for Mahomedans, Jains, Vaishnavas and Brahmuns respectively. Fatehkot, Waghal, Sanekshwar and Panchesar are the notable historical places.

The chief banking institution in Radhanpur is the "Vadhar Bank" established by the late Nawab Sahib Bahadur to lend money to cultivators and others on easy terms this saves them from the clutches of money-lenders.

RULER.—His Highness Nawab Shri Murtasakhaji, Jorawarkhanji Babi, Nawab Sahib of Radhanpur.

RAJKOT.

Centrally situated in the Western India Agency, Rajkot State has an area of 282 4 sq miles and a population of 180,000 souls. It has an annual revenue of about 19 lakhs of rupees. The population depends upon industries, commerce and agriculture. The State has several streams of which the Aji is perennial. The principal products of the State are common kinds of grain, cotton and sugar-cane as raw materials and cloth, skins, brass utensils, silver and gold ware as finished products. The chief city Rajkot was until recently the headquarters of the Hon'ble Resident in the Western India.

The Rajkumar College in Rajkot is conducted on the lines of English Public Schools and maintains entry into the aristocracy of Western India. The Dharmendrasinhji College which is maintained by the State up to the M.A. Standard is the University of Bombay. It is a self-contained unit with numerous playgrounds, hostels, a well equipped library and a separate Press. The Ruling Princes of Kathiwar and Cutch and business magnates have endowed the College liberally, thanks to the good efforts of Dr. K. Yajnik, M.A., Ph.D. (Lond.), the Principal of the College. It has also several central institutions such as Lang Library, Wilson Museum, Connaught Hall, Hunter Training College for Men and Women Training College for Women and the G. Girls' High School attached to the Vanthi Vishram. The West Hospital, Padamkunverba Hospital and the Kanana Hospital are the Central institutions to alleviate the sick.

Among the industrial are the Lakhsajiraj Ginning and Pressing Factory, the Lakhsajiraj Roller Flour Mills Co., Cotton Mill and the State Supply Co., which use electric power throughout the Civil District. There is the Rajkot State Bank in the city which is doing much for the economic development of the State. There are also seven leading Banks here.

The State maintains the High School, the English Middle School, and the Karansinhji and Dhanooji Middle Schools. The State spends 15 per cent. of its income on education. There are Waterworks, the Lelpuri and the Bandarda. The former has been very useful for irrigation purposes. It is the junction of Kathiwar railways, with a good travellers' bungalow and two Dharmasabhas near the Junction Station. The Memorial Hall and library erected to commemorate the memory of Sir Lakhsajiraj is very useful for public meetings and is a delightful evening resort, the State Band playing there on Mondays. Rajkot being the Headquarters of the Government and therefore, politically most important, all States of Kathiwar have their representatives here. Being the nerve-centre of Kathiwar, and educationally a premier city, Rajkot has communal boarding houses for mofussil students attending primary schools. The grain market is the biggest in Kathiawar. Besides, Rajkot has a specialised market in metal works, silverware, trunks, Tanning Works, etc., which have established a great reputation elsewhere.

His Highness Shri Pradumnasinhji recently constituted a post-war reconstruction committee with Prof. R. V. Rao as Secretary. It is expected to submit a report shortly on the development of Sir Lakhajiraj Industrial Town, and the development of facilities for agricultural and industrial production, etc. The thoughts of His Highness are naturally centred on how he can usher a new era of prosperity for the State.

RULER—Thakore Sahab Shri Pradumnasinhji, Thakore Sahab of Rajkot, was born on 24th February 1918, succeeded the Gadi on 12th June 1940 and invested with full powers from 17th August 1940.

HEIR-APPARENT—Yuvraj Kumar Shri Manbarsinhji. SON—Kumar Shri Pradumnasinhji and 5 daughters.

RAJPIPLA.

This is a first class State and the premier State in the Gujarat States Agency. Its area is 1,517½ sq miles and its population according to the general census of 1941 is 249,032. The gross revenue of the State for the year 1944-45 was Rs. 51,72,309. The soil is fertile and produces cotton, oil-seeds, tobacco, etc., over and above the usual foodgrains. The principal crop is cotton which is all of the 1027 A. L. F. long staple variety. Sowing of inferior cotton is prohibited by law. The Rajpipla cotton has established a very good reputation in the Bombay and other markets and is sought after by merchants.

The Capital Town also named Rajpipla has a population of 15,857 and is the terminus of the Rajpipla State Railway which starts from Ankleswar, a station on the B. B. & C. I. Railway. The Maharaja's Palace known as Indrajit Padman Mahel, Vijay Palace, Chhatra Vilas Palace, the Darbar Haveli, the Guest House, the Civil Hospital, Gymkhana, Prince's Villa, High School, Dairy Farm, Public Gardens, Polo Grounds and Shewan Memorial Clock Tower are among the principal places of interest. There is good lodging and boarding accommodation for travellers at the L. F. Travellers' Bungalow.

The State has very good forests and among its mineral wealth are Akik or Cornelian stones.

RATNAGIRI.

A RAJASTHAN DISTRICT in the Konkan or Southern Division of the Bombay Division. It is bounded on the North by the Western Ghats of Janjira and the Kolaba District, on the East by the Arabian Sea and the Portuguese possessions of Goa; and on the West by the Arabian Sea. The District may be described generally as rocky and rugged. Near the coast it consists of a bare elevated plateau, intersected by numerous rivers and navigable rivers flowing down steep hills. These rivers form the chief seaports and all the inland land of the District. Ten miles or so inland the country becomes more open; in advancing a little farther, it is occupied by spurs of the Sahyadri Hills. This range itself forms the continuous boundary, running parallel to the coast, at distances varying from 30 to 45 miles. It varies in height from 2,000 to 3,000 feet, though some of the peaks attain an altitude of 4,000 feet. Whilst the slopes of the rivers produce fine crops of rice in the rains, and of pulse in the cold weather and some of the inland valleys exhibit the same fertility, the hills are, as a rule, poor and barren, and supports with difficulty a small population, a large proportion of whom migrate to Bombay in the fair season. The hill slopes are flooded with plantation of Alphonso and mango grafts. "Alphonso" mango, the king of fruits, is exported on a very large scale to Bombay and other markets and forms the main money crop of the District. Ratnagiri, headquarters town, is open and faces the sea. There is no railway connection, and communication is by steamer with Bombay and by motor with Kolhapur 82 miles away. With the construction of the Bombay-Konkan-Goa road by bridging all the rivers and creeks on the way, Ratnagiri is connected with Bombay by direct bus service via Chiplun, Mahad, Dharamtar, etc. The population of the District is 1,373,000. (According to the 1911 census.)

SATARA.

A District in the Western Division of the Bombay Province. It is bounded on the north by the States of Bhos and Phaltan; on the south by the River Varna, separating it from Kolhapur and Sangli States; on the east by Sholapur District and the States of the Pans Pratinidhi and the Chief of Jath; and on the west by the Sahyadri Hills, separating it from the Districts of Kolaba and Ratnagiri. Area, 4,910 square miles, population, 1,327,249. Language spoken—Marathi. From [Name] in the north-west corner of the District, 6,717 feet above the sea, [Name] hill ranges of equal height and nearly all right angles to each other—one the main range of the Sahyadri running towards the south and forming the western boundaries of the District and the other, the Mahadeo range of hills, which going first in an easterly and then a south-easterly direction, runs towards the eastern boundary, where it sinks gradually into the plain. These hills have numerous spurs over the District, forming the valleys of the several streams which make up the headwaters of the Krishna, one of the largest rivers in Western India. Near Mahabliwhar and in the Koyna valley the hills are the highest in the District and are mostly very well wooded. The soils of the District belong to the three main classes—red in the hills and black and light coloured in the plains. The black soil, especially along the valley of the Krishna, is fertile but scanty rainfall makes part of Khandala tract in Wai Taluka and that part of the District east of the railway most likely to suffer from failure of crops. Satara, the headquarters town, is 10 miles from Satara Road station on the Madras and Southern Mahratta Railway.

Though the district has been industrially backward in the past, there are now two Engineering concerns—one at Kiriokar Wadi (Aundh State), and one at Satara Road Station—manufacturing Farm Implements, Tools, Textile Machinery. Besides, there are Glass Works at Ogalewadi near Karad in the Aundh State. The Willingdon bridge at Mahuli near Satara has greatly facilitated traffic to Pandharpur and the new bridge over the Krishna at Karad, near Mahabliwhar, between Chiplun (Ratnagiri district) and the centres on the M. & S. M. Railway.

Besides Mahabliwhar, the well known summer resort of the Presidency, Panohani, a hill station in the district, is noted for its sanitarium and educational facilities for well to do classes. There is also a full Arts College at Kupwad (near Sangli) named the Willingdon (the late lamented Governor of Bombay) College.

SAWANTWADI STATE.

Sawantwadi is one of the ancient Mahratta States in Western India. It is a compact territory unbroken by the lands of other States or districts and is about fifty miles long and from 10 to 30 miles broad. The State comprises an area of 930 square miles and is bounded on the north by the Malwan Sub-Division of Ratnagiri District and is separated by the line of the Sahyadri hills, on the south by the Kolhapur territory, and on the east and south-east, from the British District of Belgaum. To the south lie the Dichol and Pedna sub-divisions of the Portuguese territory of Goa, and on the west and north west the Ratnagiri sub-divisions of Vengurla and Malwan. The general aspect of the country is strikingly picturesque. The population of Sawantwadi State is 121,476 according to the Census of 1941.

males and 130,694 are females. The ratio of literacy to the total population is 17.3 as compared with last Census which was 7.6. For administrative purposes, the State is divided into two Pethas, viz., Kudal and Banded. Each Petha is in charge of a Kamavisdar. Both the officers are responsible to the Diwan of the State.

The State pays no tribute to the British Government. It is rich in forests of teak especially near the Sahyadri hills—blackwood, ain, kher and jambha. Near the more important rivers are jackwood, mango and bhurand. The principal fruits are mangoes, plantains, citrons, limes and jack fruit. Coconut and cashew-nuts are very plentiful. The staple agricultural produce in the State is cotton, the quantity being insufficient for the wants of the people, a good deal is imported from outside. Iron ore of fair quality is found in the neighbourhood of the Ramghat in the Sahyadri Range. The Akern stone, a slate coloured tale-schist, extremely hard, compact and heavy, is unrivalled for building purposes. The principal sources of income are (1) Land Revenue, (2) Forest and (3) Abkari. The gross revenue based on the average of five years is Rs. 7,47,814.

The principal industries of the State are gold and silver embroidery on both leather and cloth, fans, baskets, boxes, kas-kas grass ornamented with gold thread and beetle; lacquered toys and playing cards, and elegant drawing-room ornaments carved from horn, buffalo and bison.

SHOLAPUR.

A District in the Deccan, Bombay Province, except the taluka, which is included by the Nizam's territory. Sholapur is bounded on the North by Ahmednagar District, on the East by the Nizam's Dominions and Akalkot State; on the South by Bijapur District and the Jath and Mira (Senior) States; and on the West by Satara, Poona and Ahmednagar Districts, and the Phaltan and Aundh. The district generally is flat and undulating. Most of the country rolls in long low uplands separated by hollows, with an occasional level. The shallow souled uplands are suitable for pasture and the deep-souled lowlands, under careful tillage, yield the best crops. From time to time the district suffers severely from drought, in which its treeless and the treeless surface of the country expose it. The Imperial Council of Agricultural Research has, therefore, recently opened at Mulegaon, a village about 4 miles to the east of Sholapur, a Dry Farming Research Station and experiments are being made there on the Jowar, which is the staple food of this District. A committee, consisting of both the officials as well as the non-officials, the Village Improvement Committee, has also been constituted to help the cultivators and villagers in this District, and to assist them in subjects closely connected with their life and profession.

Sholapur town, the headquarters of the District, is a station on the Indian Peninsula Railway. There is a fine old hotel and a travellers' bungalow. There are also District Scout and Ambulance Headquarters.

SURAT.

A British District in Gujarat, Bombay Province, with an area of 1,662 square miles. It is bounded on the North by Broach District and Baroda territory, on the East by the States of Baroda, Rajpura, Bandra and Dharampur, on the South by Thana District and the Portuguese territory of Daman, and on the West by the Arabian Sea. Surat District consists of wide, alluvial plain, stretching between the Dang Hills and the coast, from the Kun River on the North to Damanganga on the South—a distance of about 80 miles. Much of the soil is rich and very fertile, but the western border of the District consists of less fruitful lands. Surat, the chief town and administrative headquarters, is situated on the south bank of the Tapi River and 10 miles from the sea. During the 17th and 18th centuries Surat ranked as the chief export and import centre of India. After the assumption of the entire Government by the British in 1800, prosperity, which had deserted the town towards the end of the previous century, reappeared, but the steady transfer of trade to Bombay, combined with the famine in 1813 in Northern Gujarat, continued to undermine its commercial importance. Though now overshadowed by Bombay, it is still the centre of a brisk trade.

Besides being noteworthy historically, Surat was the principal centre of handicrafts in the whole of the province and in spite of the fact that it has witnessed numerous ups and downs at various stages, it has succeeded in standing unshaken against those vicissitudes and it still commands its supremacy in the field of skilled crafts. Nearly half the population of the town depends on handicrafts. The jari work, lace, silk and jari brocades, embroidery, ivory and sandalwood inlay work of surati-nakashi and ivory bangles are the major handicrafts for which Surat is still famous not only throughout India but even outside India. So far France was the main rival of the Surat jari works and lace, but now the War has put an end to that rivalry, if not for ever, at least for the duration of the War, and the town has assumed a monopoly in that field. Recently this handicraft has made enviable progress. Today Surat is the only place in the whole of India to manufacture jari georgette saris in different colours and various artistic designs. Gold thread produced here is exported to many countries. The taluka of Oipad is particularly famous for its knives and nutcrackers, while Bulsar is well-known for its silver engraving work.

Surat has made enormous progress educationally also. Today the town with a population of 1,60,000 maintains three colleges of arts, science and law. There are a teachers' diploma class, eight secondary schools for boys and five for girls; one training college for primary teachers, two technical institutes, several private commerce classes and nearly 100 primary schools. Besides, it has a basic training centre, which is the only one of its kind in the whole of Gujarat.

Surat contains many interesting memorials of the days of the East India Company, especially the tombs of the early European residents. The population of Surat is approximately 1,60,000, while that of the district excluding Surat, is near 6,50,000.

THANA.

A British District in the Bombay Presidency. Area, 2,424 square miles, it is bounded on the north by the Portuguese territory of Daman and the Surat District, on the east by the Districts of Nasik, Ahmednagar and Poona, on the south by the Bombay Suburban District; and on the west by the Arabian Sea. Thana consists of a distinct strip of low land, intersected by hilly tracts rising to elevations of from 100 to 2,500 feet. Along the whole line of the Coast the soil is fertile, and the villages are exceedingly populous. In the North-East the hills are covered with wood and the valleys but partially cultivated. The villages are seldom more than scattered hamlets of huts, and the population consists mainly of uncivilised aboriginal tribes, many of whom still wander from place to place as they find water to suit their fancy. Inland the District is well watered and well wooded. Except in the North-East, where much of it rises in large plateau, the country is a series of flat low-lying rice tracts, broken by well-marked ranges of hills. A considerable trade in firewood is earned on with Bombay; the sea fisheries are productive, and there is a lucrative salt industry. The Christians of Salsette and Bassein, a very strong community, are the descendants of the converts of St. Francis Xavier. Thana, the chief town, 21 miles North of Bombay, is a station on the Great Indian Peninsula Railway. The fort, the Portuguese Cathedral, a few carved and inscribed stones, and several reservoirs are now the only signs that it was once an important city. There is a good travellers' bungalow Bassein, on the Bombay, Baroda and Central India Railway, contains famous ruins of the Portuguese dominion in Salsette.

WADHWAN.

Wadhwan State, in the Western India States Agency, lies between 71° and 72° North and 22° and [redacted] East with an area of [redacted] 4 square miles including that of attached area. It is bounded on the north by the territory of Dhrangadhra, on the south by the territory of Chhda and Limbdi and by the Dhandhuka Taluka of the Ahmedabad District, on the east by Limbdi State and on the west by Muli and Sayla territory. The country is compact and irrigated to some extent. The climate is hot but healthy. The annual rainfall averages about 20 inches.

The soil is black or light, in about equal proportion. Cotton and the usual grains are grown. Country soap, which is largely used by the people of Kathiawar and Gujarat, is the chief article of manufacture, but weaving and dyeing are also carried on and there are four Ginning Factories, three Cotton Presses and one Ice Factory in Wadhwan city and six small Ginning Factories are in the District. The produce of the State once exported from the Port of Dholera, now goes by rail. Wadhwan City is fortified and the Ruler's Palace, an imposing building, occupies a crowning position in the southern part of the City. [redacted] is the main entrepot for the cotton trade of Jhalawad and contains a wealthy community of merchants. A large import trade is also carried on in grain and cotton stuffs. The stone cutters and quarry men are also skilled workmen.

Wadhwan [redacted] was founded in A.D. [redacted] by Rayoji, the son of Prathuraj, the eldest son of Raja Chandramhji of Halvad. It has acquired modern importance from the junction of Wadhwan Branch of the Bombay, Baroda and Central India Railway with the Bhavnagar, Morvi and Dhrangadhra lines. The Wadhwan Civil Station, which was the Headquarters of the Political Agent, Eastern Kathiawar Agency, is established on a plot of land leased from the Wadhwan [redacted].

There is a temple of the celebrated Ranak Devi, Consort of Rai Khengar of Junagadh and which is about 900 years old. There is also an old step-well called Madhavav in Wadhwan City. It was built in about 8th year 1362 by Madhav, the Prime Minister of Waghela Karan, the then Ruler of Gujarat.

The Civil Station is about 3 miles distant from the City both of which are well connected by Railway, Motor Service and Tramway Service and a good metalled road for private car owners.

Jorawarnagar [redacted] is a newly erected town [redacted] Wadhwan Civil Station and [redacted] City, is named after His Late Highness Maharana Shri Jorawarnhji Sahab Bahadur. His Late Highness himself laid the foundation stone of this [redacted]. In view of its dry and bracing climate, it has been a place of resort for T.B. patients. It has developed into a fine town during recent years and attracts visitors from outside.

At Dudhrey, which is attached to the State, is a flourishing temple of the Mota Panth, a sect almost exclusively for Rabaris (shepherds).

The population of the State is 70,520, and Revenue Rs. 6½ lakhs.

RULER: His Highness Maharaja Shri Surendrasinhji Jorawarsinhji Jhala, Thakore Sahib of Wadhwan.

HEIR-APPARENT Yuvraj Shri Surendradeo.

WANKANER.

A First Class State in Western India States Agency, area 417 square miles, population 54,966, and revenue Rs. 9,95,302. The soil is chiefly light, and the territory hilly; irrigation is practised to some extent. Cotton is one of the principal products, and there are a number of limestones and sandstone quarries. Wankaner, the chief town, is a Railway junction where the lines from Morvi, Wadhwan and Rajkot meet. It is noted for its hand-woven silk fabrics and has also a large Cotton Spinning and Weaving Mill and Pottery Works. Seven miles from Wankaner is Jadeshwar, a well known shrine of Mahadev and an important place of pilgrimage. Fairs are held here annually in the month of Shravan.

The climate is dry and invigorating. The Rulers are in a line of 11 guns.

Gadkari's Baroda State Railways.

With a view to give railway facilities to every part of the Baroda State and to open up rural areas, a network of railways has been constructed throughout the Baroda territory. But as the territory of the Baroda State is not compact, there are isolated railway lines. This naturally increased the capital invested on railway which stands at about Rs. 5 crores 80 lakhs to-day. The railways consist of 704 miles and 21 miles of Broad-Gauge worked by the G. I. P. Railway, 428 miles of Narrow-Gauge and 308 miles of Gauge worked by the railway department. A section of 100 miles Metre Gauge in the Okha District worked by the Jamnagar & Dwarka Railway.

THE
 BARODA.
 PIONEERS OF INDIA'S CHEMICAL INDUSTRY.

Raj Mitra B. D. Amin

"I have been in touch with the Alembic Chemical Company for a number of years and have at last had an opportunity of inspecting the works. In layout, in technical efficiency, in its wide range of products and the extent to which it designs and constructs its own plant the Alembic Company compares favourably with any other chemical works I have seen in India."

This remark made by the Director General, Indian Medical Service, who happened to pay a visit to the Alembic Chemical Works a few years back, describes in a few words what the Alembic Chemical Works is.

Founded some four decades back by the distinguished trio, the late Prof. T. K. Gajjar, the late Prof. A. S. Kotibhaskar and Mr. (now Raj Mitra) B. D. Amin, the Alembic Chemical Works, from a small losing concern, has developed into a huge profit-making enterprise due to the earnestness, foresight, robust optimism, business acumen and indefatigable energy of Raj Mitra B. D. Amin, who is considered to be one of the earnest pioneers of the Pharmaceutical Industry in India.

Realising the need for well-trained and qualified Chemists and Chemical Engineers, Alembic has pursued the policy of sending suitable employees to England, Germany and America for training in Pharmacy and Chemistry. The manufacturing and research laboratories of the Factory are equipped with new machinery now manned by these trained Engineers and Chemists with up-to-date knowledge and ideas. Scientific investigation and development in the various branches of the Chemical and Pharmaceutical Industry is constantly taking place and research work on a number of problems is being conscientiously carried on by experienced and well-qualified Chemists.

Alembic is to-day one of the most prosperous industrial enterprises in India, manufacturing on a large scale chemical and pharmaceutical products and organised on a plan for quality. The factories are being rapidly extended and from the early alcoholic basic industry, the Company, by persistent efforts and gradual progress, has developed to-day into a huge chemical and pharmaceutical concern manufacturing all kinds of medicinal products such as tinctures, extracts, elixirs, vinums, ointments, tablets, injections, pharmaceutical specialties, several medicinal chemicals including anæsthetic ether, chloral hydrate, ethyl chloride, alkaloids, etc. The Company's services to the country in supplying the medical profession with standard reliable products are great and, specially during these critical days of scarcity of medicines, the untiring zeal with which the Company's efforts are directed to step up production and maintain quality with ever-increasing vigilance speaks of its spirit of service to the millions of suffering humanity.

Since the outbreak of war, Alembic has been able to help the medical profession and the public by manufacturing and supplying many of the products which were being imported from foreign countries and has taken part in the war effort by supplying various medicines and drugs to the Supply Department, Government of India, including some very important chemicals which have not been manufactured in India up to now.

The most striking feature of the Alembic above all, however, is the fact that it is not resting on its laurels and is always exploring new fields and developing new side lines allied to its industry, a few examples of which are the formation of new subsidiary Companies, viz. Jyoti Limited, which manufactures Chemical plant and Engineering articles, Alembic Glass Industries Ltd., which manufactures glass containers needed for pharmaceutical purposes, and Lily Oil Industries Ltd., which manufactures Vegetable Ghee, etc.

THE HOUSE OF BEHARILAL RAMCHARAN

The firm of Beharilal Ramcharan can well claim to be one of the oldest and leading business houses of Cawnpore. Established during the latter half of the 19th century, the commanding position and reputation enjoyed by this House is the result of over 50 years of steady and consistent progress.

The activities of the B R Group extend over a wide and varied field and include amongst others textile manufacture, Insurance and Banking, Engineering, Food Processing, Import and Export, etc. Following are the firms which comprise the B R Group :—

CAWNPORE Lakshmiratan Cotton Mill Company Limited—Cawnpore Safe Deposit Vault Limited—India Supplies—Northern India Trading Co.—B R Wood Works—B R Synthetic Food Products—Ramprasad Premkumar—Ramcharan Ramgopal—Ramgopal Ramprasad—Gupta Brothers—India Stores—Liberty File and Tool Co.

MELBOURNE (Australia) Hindustan Export and Import Company Limited

In addition, Mr. Ramratan Gupta is Chairman of the Empire of India Life Assurance Company Limited, the Discount Bank of India Limited and the Meymer Cotton Mills Ltd, Bombay, and Aurangabad Cotton Mills of Aurangabad.

Lala Ramratan Gupta, Chairman of the B R Group of industries, has acquired a reputation in India's industrial, commercial and political sphere. A nationalist at heart as well as in action, he is set on a comprehensive industrialization of India on modern lines and firmly believes that a country's first line of defence is its industrial strength. He is ably assisted by Lala Ramgopal Gupta and Lala Ramprasad Gupta, who share the same progressive outlook and are keen on industrial development and efficiency. Their elder brother

Under the management of Lala Ramratan Gupta and his two brothers, the activities of the Group have expanded considerably. The management of the B R Group of ~~■■■■■~~ is on a modern and scientific basis and every effort is made to introduce, wherever possible, the latest methods of production and distribution.

In the question of labour welfare also the policy of the B R Group is most progressive and an active interest and sympathy is taken in the welfare of the workers. The treatment of labour is both generous and humane as can be evidenced from the numerous welfare ~~■■■■■~~ which the Lakshmiratan Cotton Mills Co., Ltd., of the B R Group provide for its workers. Regular literacy classes, free cinema shows and a modern hospital equipped with the latest apparatus are ~~■■■■~~ of the amenities enjoyed by the workers of the Lakshmiratan Cotton Mills. A colony with all the amenities of life and a Theatre Hall and Club are under construction for the benefit of the workers.

As in the industrial world, so also in civic and public affairs the members of the House of Beharilal Ramcharan have played an important part and their philanthropic and charitable activities are many and varied.

THE firm of W H Brady & Co, Ltd, the present head of which is Sir Joseph Kay, who has associated with him a Board of whole-time service Directors, viz. Messrs Baker, Ferard, Everitt and Jenkins, dates back to the year 1895, when the late Mr Bradbury, in conjunction with the late Mr W H Brady, commenced business in partnership as Machinery Agents and Importers and on all technical relating to the Cotton Textile Industry. The business soon assumed considerable proportions and, as was to be expected, progressed rapidly. The Managing Agency of one or two Mills was taken over by them some 40 years ago.

FAST PROGRESS.

In the year 1913 the firm was converted into a private limited liability Company under the name and style of W H Brady & Co, Ltd, with its head office in Bombay, and Branches at Calcutta, Cawnpore, Madras, Ahmedabad, Manchester, England.

W. H. BRADY &

business had still further progressed, the restrictions in the Articles of Association which kept the Company in close hands were lifted in 1928. The Capital increased and today it is a joint-stock Company without any restrictions.

The operations of the concern now cover a very wide field, but for many years its main business was closely connected with the cotton textile trade in India, and many large contracts have been undertaken. In orders for complete Cotton and Woollen Mills have been placed in its hands and executed to the satisfaction of the purchasers. The Textile Machinery Import Department is keenly alive to all changes which take place in textile methods and is always ready to supply machinery in keeping with the changes which constantly take place in the manufacture of cotton and silk goods of all descriptions.

ENGINEERING SECTION.

Messrs W H Brady & Co, Ltd, have a very large general engineering connection. They carry comprehensive stocks of the manufactures of a number of British firms, who are generally recognised as makers of the highest repute, amongst them may be mentioned Hopkinsons, Ltd, of Huddersfield, Herbert Morris, Ltd, of Loughborough, G. & J. Weir, Ltd, of Glasgow, The Renold & Coventry Chain Co, Ltd, The Hoffmann Mfg Co, Ltd, Geo Kent, Ltd, etc, etc. They also act as Agents for Duncan Stewart & Co, Ltd, of Glasgow, having supplied to India a number of complete sugar factories fabricated by this firm

TEXTILE INTERESTS.

In addition to the large machinery business which Messrs W H Brady & Co, Ltd, do, they are also Managing Agents for The Colaba Land & Mill Co, Ltd, The New Great Eastern S & W Co, Ltd, The New City of Bombay Mfg Co, Ltd, and also The Empire Dyeing & Mfg Co, Ltd, so that the Company is directly and indirectly closely connected with the textile trade

SUGAR INDUSTRY.

In their Agency and General Department they have control of the management of The Belapur Co, Ltd This Pioneer Company manufactures pure Indian sugar from cane which is grown entirely on its own estate by the most modern methods, and is one of the largest of its kind in India This Company has recently erected a new factory which is the most up-to-date in India. They also control the Carlton Press (G. Claridge & Co., Ltd.), which undertakes all kinds of printing and book-binding work

COMPANY, LTD.

BOMBAY.

IMPORT AGENCIES.

Messrs W H Brady & Co, Ltd, also handle several important agencies for goods which are consumed in India, and have built up a very extensive connection with the Bazaar Dealers who import proprietary articles, such as Nicholson Files, Nettlefold Screws and Signode Steel Strapping, etc

INSURANCE.

Insurance is another important line of business with which the Company has been connected for a considerable number of years. They have an expert staff, control agencies of first-class British and Indian Insurance Companies, and are always in a position to give advice on and transact practically all classes of Insurance business with the exception of Life insurance

In a brief resume of the Company's operations of this description, it is impossible to enumerate a complete list of firms for whom they act as representatives, but the Company is well-known to be a progressive and live House, with experts in each branch, and is always open to handle lines of merchandise both for import and export

BRITISH INDIA S. N. CO., LTD.

THE is probably a shipping company with Indian trade and connections which from its very start has been so closely connected with India or whose enterprise in the early days was of such mutual benefit to the Company and to Indian sea transport as the British India Steam Navigation Company, or as it was first known, the Calcutta-Burma Steam Navigation Company. The Company was founded in Calcutta by Mr. Mackenzie who was engaged in a general merchandising business there and who took into partnership a young man, Mr. William Mackinnon. The partners were building up a considerable business and, for the shipment of their goods to other parts of India, they used whatever coastal shipping was available and had from experience full knowledge of the difficulties and delays which at that time hampered Indian trade. In 1854, the East India Company called for offers for a contract for transport of mails, passengers and cargo by steam between Calcutta and Burma, and Mackinnon and Mackenzie raised sufficient capital between them and amongst their friends to allow them to tender for the contract. When they secured this, they bought two small steamers, the "Baltic" and "Cape of Good Hope" and formed a Company for the running of the service under the title of Calcutta-Burma Steam Navigation Company. It began with a fortnightly service between Calcutta, Akyab, Rangoon and Moulmein.

B. I. Liner "Anwa", just before

This, it will be remembered, was at a time when steam transport in India and the East especially was struggling against many difficulties. The engines of those days had low efficiency and a high coal consumption. Docking and repair facilities for steamers were also lacking and although the new Company was not the first to attempt steam transport in Indian waters, others had lost heavily on their venture. The Calcutta and Burma Steam Navigation Company, however, began to forge slowly ahead, and although they were hard hit by the loss of two of their steamers, the "Cape of Good Hope" being sunk by collision in the Hooghly and a new ship the "Calcutta" wrecked on the Widdow Coast on her way out from the harbour, two new steamers were added to the fleet and orders were placed for two more.

In 1866, Mackinnon and Mackenzie offered not only to renew their existing mail contract but also put forward a project for the new development of other lines round the Indian Coast and to adjacent ports. They proposed to run one line to ports of the Persian Gulf and others eastward to Singapore and Malacca Straits ports. The proposal was so daring that there was considerable hesitation and doubt as to the possibility of a contract being carried out. Up to that time, no steamers had been able to continue an all-the-year-round coastal service against the seasonal monsoons, while the conditions of postal services, especially round the Persian Gulf, were in a state of

Postal arrangements had been with a number of who safety and had been tried or reduced to carry out their part of the work by

Piracy was rife in the and of Singapore even were not immune from attack, especially on the fairly frequent attack of swarming pirate prahu,

An early B I Liner "Rasmara"

These dangers and difficulties were thought to be more than any Company could overcome at last the Supreme Council of the Government Department was sufficiently minded to make a contract and give the new service a trial. The name of the Company was then changed to the one which it has carried ever since—the British India Steam Navigation Company, or as it is generally known over the whole of the East, the B I

Further troubles were met, especially when five steamers, including two completely new, were lost in cyclones, but the lost ships were replaced, additional ones added and the mail sailings increased.

In 1869, the opening of the Suez Canal brought a flood of competition from new Companies and steamers which broke into the established trade of the B I with the advantage of using what was then regarded as the greatest advance in steam navigation, the new and economical compound steam engines. The B I practically had to re-engine the whole of their fleet but were now able to send their ships through the Canal to England to have this work carried out. This led to the opening of a new service between England and the East and another between London and East Africa. In 1881, a contract was made with the Queensland Government for a monthly service between London and Brisbane by the Torres Straits. Objections were raised to non-Australian Companies being engaged in this trade, so the B I in 1885 acquired an Australian Navigation Company which, amalgamated the Shipping Company, the Navigation Company, which remains one of the associated companies of the B I.

The story of the Chairmanship of the late Lord Inchcape and the negotiations under him which led to the amalgamation of the B I with the P & O in 1924 is all too recent and well known a history to repeat here. From the earliest days of the B I, their services have always fitted in usefully with those of the P & O and the amalgamation has only resulted in those ties being more closely drawn. Up to the outbreak of war, the B I services were spread in a vast network over the whole of the East and centering on India extended to the Straits and Far East down to Australia, Westward to the Persian Gulf, Ports of East Africa and to England. The Company had then more ocean-going mail, passenger and cargo steamers under its House Flag than any other shipping company in the Empire. This in itself is striking evidence of the success of a little Company which was founded less than a century ago with two small steamers, and that very extension of the Company's enterprise is evidence also of the tremendous expansion in which they have shared of Indian sea transport, trade and the story of the work in which the Company's ships, and establishments have been engaged in the recent World War is yet to be fully told, but there need be no doubt of its share in maritime affairs, which played so important a part in securing final Victory.

Certain it is that now, as in the past, India has good reason to be proud of the record and service of the Indian-born B I

THE COMMONWEALTH TRUST, LIMITED

Manufacturers of Tiles, Textiles and Steel Safes.

Indian Head Office—Calicut, Malabar.

THE Commonwealth Trust, Limited, was instituted in London in 1919, by arrangement with the Secretary of State for India, for taking over and administering ~~handloom~~ factories in Madras Presidency. The Company having been formed as a practical expression of the principle that commercial development in India should be in the interests of the inhabitants, the dividend payable to its shareholders is limited to 5% per annum, and all surplus profits earned in India go to a body of Trustees, to be used for religious and charitable purposes in India.

The Company operates on a similar basis in the Gold Coast, West Africa.

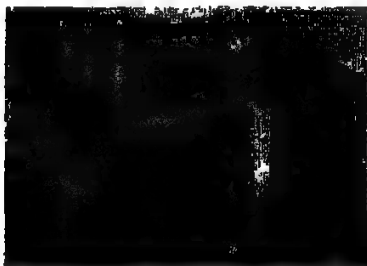

The Company's predecessors commenced operations in 1859 and find employment in the local population, handloom weaving was then, as now, a popular occupation in Malabar and the ~~material~~ known as "calico" was named after Calicut. They interested themselves in developing this particular industry and it was worthy of mention that the colour known as "khaki" is said to have originated by the Company. Lord Roberts saw this khaki at the Company's premises and recommended its adoption by the Army.

In 1890 the Company started the manufacture of roofing tiles at Mangalore and ~~several~~ tile factories were erected by them in the following years.

This expansion necessitated the starting of a workshop and in 1874 the present Engineering Works was opened in Mangalore. In 1890 the Hosiery Factory was started in Mangalore and in 1902 the Embroidery Department was opened in Calicut.

With the general development of the mill industry it was decided to open a large powerloom factory at Cannanore for the manufacture of popular priced shirtings and suitings.

A Section of the Handloom Factory

The Commonwealth Trust, Ltd. has 15 Factories and branches employing nearly 5,000 employees in all. Large amounts are distributed every year in the form of Sick and Maternity Benefit, Provident and Pension Funds. A Crèche is attached to each Factory and in Cannanore and Calicut free Clinics are maintained under the supervision of qualified Medical Officers. The Company has also opened Clinics in each of the Factories for the amelioration of the conditions amongst workers.

The Company has its own stockists and agents in all the main cities and towns throughout India, Ceylon, Australia, Africa, etc.

More detailed information regarding the Company's manufactures is given below.

No other firm has had such an influence as Daimler in developing the motor car from its earliest nineteenth century beginnings to its present perfection. The Daimler Company Ltd., was founded in 1896. Well before 1900 it had not only created a reliable car but had also had the signal honour of supplying his very first car to His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales. This was in 1899, when the Prince became owner of a 6.h.p. Daimler. The Daimler Company is still, within a year of its Jubilee, and has behind it a proud record of accomplishment.

From the time when motor vehicles were first allowed to use the King's highway, the Daimler Company has never wavered from its ideal to build elegant, roomy carriages, driven by an engine combining silent running with high power and smooth control.

Quite early in its history the Company's high standards were ratified for all time by the grant of a Royal Warrant by King Edward VII. This honour has been renewed by each successive British monarch, and their example in choosing the Daimler Car has been followed by many of the world's august personages.

The Daimler Company has contributed much to motoring progress, always with a view to enhancing the efficiency and refinement of the Daimler Car. Fluid Transmission is one example of this enterprise. Accorded high approval by leading British motorists and by H.E. the Viceroy and many of the Princes in India, this new form of transmission has recently been acclaimed in America as automobile engineering's greatest technical advance.

In the recent World War the Daimler Company has served with conspicuous success the cause of freedom. Daimler Armoured Cars and Scout Cars have gone forward over every kind of country with our fighting armies, adding new lustre to this famous name.

With so much accomplishment behind it the Daimler Company faces the future undimmed of the proud place it holds in the world's fine cars.

THE HOUSE OF J. K.

The late Kamalapat Singhania, Founder

STARTED about the middle of the 19th century by two industrial pioneers of the time, the late Lala Juggal Singhania and the late Lala Kamalapat Singhania, the J. K. Industries is now among the biggest private-owned enterprises in India and ranks amongst the other very large industrial combines in the country. The headquarters are in Kamla Tower, Calcutta, from where all industries in the J. K. Group are controlled.

J. K.'s leadership in several lines of manufacture and business volume in each are conclusive proofs of an efficiently organised and managed group. The J. K. administration is in the hands of a brain trust consisting of a body of men whose experience, outlook and business acumen have made them leaders in their respective fields of activity. Another factor responsible for J. K.'s sudden and meteoric rise to success is the excellence of every product that is made in the J. K. Group of Mills and Factories.

Sir Padampat Singhania, Kt., J. K.'s present Governing Director, is a man of great vision and is upholding the golden traditions set up by the founders. He is also the Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Hindustan Commercial Bank Ltd., recently started with a capital of Rs 5 crores. Assisted by his two brothers, Lala Kalashpat Singhania and Lala Lakshmpat Singhania, Directors of the J. K. Industries, Sir Padampat has gathered around him a host of brilliant business men and industrialists. Under them is a network of committees, one for each department of business management and manned by specialists of many years' experience both in India and abroad.

J. K. Industries are proud of their special organisation for the welfare of their thousands of workers. The amenities provided include a magnificent club-house with extensive playgrounds and complete facilities for every kind of sports for employees, refreshment, bar and mess facilities, employees' welfare organisations, hospitals for free treatment, well-equipped libraries and reading rooms, amply stocked grain and provision shops, and voluntary corps. Their annual sports set an example for other industrial concerns to follow.

Kamla Tower, Calcutta

A Kamla Town—a colony for J. K. employees in a most up-to-date style and a colonization scheme is now under planning, with innumerable quarters for the staff, its own hospitals, markets, schools, theatres, and playgrounds. Liberal dearness allowances, bonuses, etc., are features of J K's profit-sharing policy and considerate attitude towards their employees.

J K Industries have an ideal—to replace every conceivable imported article with an indigenous one. Their efforts to usher in advancement will soon bear fruit. The entire capital of J K Industries is Indian, the management is Indian, the labour is Indian and the raw products consumed in the various mills are Indian.

NAWAB SALAR JUNG BAHADUR

JABCO—short for Jaya Bharatham Co.—is 'an outstanding enterprise of South India'. It was founded in 1929 by Mr. W. P. Ignatius, who, before he entered business, had been a prominent Congressman. A university man, he had completed the law course when non-cooperation was launched in 1921. He immediately joined the national movement and was immediately connected with it for 10 years as a member of the A. I. C. C. He also served two terms of imprisonment in South India and C. P. He was in charge of the Khadi & Handicrafts movements of South India. He is known to possess extraordinary powers of organisation. His interest in Indian industry soon outgrew his politics, particularly during the stalemate in Indian politics between 1929 and 1930. The founding of Jabco was the result. It has for its aim the manufacture in the country of quality goods to equal the best of imported goods and the aim has succeeded eminently.

A competent authority recently said that "the growth of Jabco is a romance of renaissance India". A high placed individual wrote that he was constantly drawing inspiration from the daily contact of an outstanding personality in the Indian industrial world", referring to Mr. Ignatius. These two tributes sum up Jabco and the head of the ~~firm~~ Jabco.

Jabco's first home was in a small mofussil town. In two years, its rapid growth necessitated its transfer to the metro polis—Madras. It started as Representatives in South India of many well known Indian industrial houses such as Ogleas, Godrej, Swastik, etc. The firm soon built up an extensive selling organisation with Distributors and Dealers in every nook and corner of South India and after only 4 years of working was generally recognised as a firm that "handled the largest volume of trade in Swedish goods in South India".

The next phase in Jabco's development occurred in 1936 when it entered the manufacturing field. Its first product was Jabco Fountain, which soon caught on. Today it is the best and most popular ink in South India and one of the best known in all India. Other products soon followed and the Jabco range today includes cosmetics and many varieties of toilet specialties—Liquid and Solid Brilattinas, Snow, Hair Growth, ~~Perfumed~~ Perfumed Castor Oil.

Having been the users for many years of large quantities of perfumes in its cosmetic and toilet manufactures the Jabco House has from 1943 become manufacturers themselves of high quality perfumes and varied developments in the line are now in the offing.

Pharmaceutical products are already another line which Jabco has ~~been~~ an to release. The next will be a range of food-stuffs, pickles and condiments. Jabco Prawa Pulp made at Jabco's Krasidam factory has been released early in 1946 and other articles will follow successively.

The excellence and popularity of Jabco products have not been just accidental but are the direct result of a deliberate plan, ~~to~~ to give the public the best that can be made.

JAYA BHARATHAM CO.

of Jabco

by man's patient ——— Only the best that Jabco ——— placed on the market, which is why the public prefer articles with the Jabco label. Quality ——— Jabco ——— now ——— in the market

In addition to the ——— market Jabco had a good sale in Burma, Ceylon and the F.M.S. before the War started. These were lost during ——— War, but as soon as ——— closed in August 1945, Jabco got busy, with its promptness in trade, picking up the old connections and enlarging them. The trade has started ——— countries and is being organised in detail through ——— Islands of the Far East where, ——— Japan out of the field, India can now be the only efficient supplier of good articles. Thoroughly modern and enterprising as a firm, Jabco is developing her trade now as a post-war measure.
In countries in ——— and Iran, ———
Africa ——— Representatives of Jabco ——— go ——— there as soon as conditions permit.

Jabco ——— now its Head Office in Bangalore. In 1942, they were shifted there owing to the ——— conditions in Madras.
A Branch of Jabco ——— started in 1944 at Ernakulam, capital of ——— Cochin State, situated in the famous Cochin Harbour.
This Branch has already developed a large trade. A Branch has been started in Madras recently and is rapidly progressing.
Other Branches which will be started before the end of 1946 are in Bombay, Hyderabad, Karachi, Delhi and Calcutta.

Besides the manufacture of Jabco Products in all these branches, one important object of starting the Branches is to build up a ——— selling organisation throughout ——— which can procure and exchange the best quality manufactures of India between her different provinces and also export them to foreign ———. Above all, the Jabco House is an unequalled selling organisation with its own novel methods in the field of sale. It is already one of India's leading sales organisations.
Another line of development planned by Jabco is trade on equal terms with foreign countries, including import from them of goods ——— may be really useful to India and ——— else make.

There are still only a few industrial houses in India ——— is ———. The House of Jabco believes that good products sell better on good publicity. Jabco has its own publicity department, with experts and artists in charge. Mr. Ignatius himself is both a great salesman and a man of ideas in publicity. To help the publicity department, Jabco has its own Printing Press called the Jabco Press. It has also got its own block and slide making departments.

"Progress and Development" have been Jabco's watch-words ever since its inception and well may Mr. Ignatius, its

The Firm was founded on 24th November 1857 by Messrs. Charles Killick and Robert Preston Nixon, who began trading in Partnership as General Merchants, and for the first 18 years or so, business was mainly confined to the import of Manchester piece-goods and the export of cotton and seeds.

In 1875, however, they took over the well-known Firm of Messrs Edward Lawrence & Co., who had commenced business in Bombay in the "fifties" and who were substantially interested in the export trade as well as in Shipping, Coal and Insurance.

In 1896 Killick, Nixon & Co. branched out on entirely new lines, namely, the floatation and managing of industrial concerns. A beginning was made with "Feeder" Railways and a cotton mill—the Kohinoor Mills Co. Ltd.—and continued with Manganese Mines, Electric Supply Companies, Portland Cement Factories, Coal Mines, etc.

The Firm has a Branch in Mormugao in Portuguese India, and are the Agents in Bombay for Messrs Bird & Co of Calcutta, who have taken over Killicks' Branch in that City.

In addition to the Shipping, Chartering and Coal business taken over from Messrs. Edward Lawrence & Co. in 1875, the Firm in 1898 amalgamated with Messrs. Edward Bates & Sons' Bombay Agency, by virtue of which amalgamation the Firm as from that date, have been Agents for Ellerman's City & Hall Lines.

The Firm has always been closely associated with leading Indian Industrialists in the City and its personnel have taken a prominent part in the business life of Bombay.

SRI KRISHNARAJENDRA Mills, Ltd., was started about 25 years ago under the auspices of the late Highness Sri Krishnaraja Wadiyar Bahadur G.C.S.I., G.B.E., whose name it bears. Like many other textile concerns which sprang up just after the close of the first Great War, this Company had to pass through difficult times for over a decade. In the year 1931 the Government of Mysore took over the management of the Mills in pursuance of their policy of promoting the industrial development of the State. Since then the Company has been recording an accelerated progress. The Company has built up strong and liquid resources to meet the demands of Post-war Reconstruction Programme. A sum of nearly Rs. 30 lakhs has been invested in Government securities with a view easily to finance the purchase of plant and machinery required for post-war expansion.

The Management have instituted a number of welfare measures such as a Creche, a Kindergarten School, a Toddlers' Centre, a free dispensary, a Co-operative Society and an up-to-date Canteen. Adult literacy classes are also being run since four years. In the new labour colony being constructed close to the Mills 128 cottages have been just completed and occupied. A new centre for training literate employees in the art of spinning and weaving has also been started. Further construction of a new block to house the Co-operative Society, a Maternity Home, a Social Hall, etc., will be taken up shortly. There is also in force a scheme for sharing profits with the employees.

The Mills' products—yarns, cloth knitted underwear and socks—are well known in almost all the Indian markets for their finish and standard quality.

The following are some of the Mills' specialties in yarn, cloth and hosiery—

Single yarn, Double yarns, Shirts and Long-cloth, Costings, Dhories, Towels, Sheetings, Bamans, Drawers, Pullovers, Socks, Vests—in pure Mysore Silk.

THE Lanchester Motor Company, one of the earliest of the pioneer companies producing high-class cars, was formed in 1899 by the Lanchester Brothers to develop the patents of the well-known inventor, Dr. Lanchester. Their first Lanchester cars embodied many outstanding features—revolutionary in their day—that have stood the test of the years and are still unrivalled to this day.

Lanchester Cars have not only been held in high esteem by the leading motorists in Great Britain, but have won the approval of many of the leading Princes in India, whose patronage is greatly valued. To-day Lanchester Cars have a world-wide reputation.

The qualities of the Lanchester Car, with its Fluid Transmission and other outstanding features, have been specially recognised by the War Office, and many Military Vehicles and Armoured Cars have been manufactured for this Department in the past 25 years.

In 1931 The Lanchester Motor Company transferred its Works to Coventry, and has most successfully continued to manufacture a wide range of highest quality cars, which have consistently made a strong and popular appeal to the public.

THE HOUSE OF MOTWANE

A GROUP of flourishing companies, with a wide reputation for reliability and service to the public is the proud achievement of the Motwanes in the short period of 36 years.

The business was founded by the late G. C. Motwane, who started as a telegraph signaller on the North Western Railway in 1910 and soon rose to the position of Inspecting Telegraph Engineer. The scope which a job on the Railway offered young Motwane was too to prove insufficient for such an enterprising spirit. He gave it up in 1909 and started on a business career, and The Eastern Electric & Trading Co., at Sukkur, Sind, was the result. Motwane's natural aptitude for business and his shrewdness soon developed the business, and he moved the Headquarters of his offices to the more important centre of Karachi in 1912, closing the Sukkur office in 1913. The continued and rapid growth of the concern necessitated opening branches in Lahore and Amritsar, and ultimately found its way up in Bombay in 1919 where he established another company also in 1919 under the name and style of The Chicago Telephone Supply Company. This was quite a landmark in Mr. Motwane's career, for from then on, the Bombay business absorbed all his time and energy, and in order to concentrate on it, he closed all his moribund branches.

Late Mr. G. C. Motwane

In 1926 Mr. Motwane entered the general engineering business and the name of the parent company started at Sukkur was changed to The Eastern Electric & Engineering Co., which began to run parallel to The Chicago Telephone Supply Co., the latter being changed to The Chicago Telephone & Radio Co., Ltd., in 1936, with branches at Calcutta, Lucknow, Lahore, New Delhi, and a City Branch at 422, Lamington Road, Bombay.

The Khanpur Mir's Electric Supply Co. was purchased by the Motwanes in 1934 and a money-lending and banking concern was started in 1940 under the name of "Gianchand Chandumal".

The House of Motwanes was, however, to lose the driving force in 1943, as G. C. died in that year, after 34 years of years and achievement. His mantle has fallen on his two sons, V. G. Motwane and N. G. Motwane, who are now carrying on the family business. They have recently registered The Motwane Radio Manufacturing Co., Ltd., with a capital of Rs. 50 lakhs for the manufacture of radios and allied goods in India, which promises to develop into a unique establishment, and an important contribution to India's industrial advancement.

MYSORE STATE INDUSTRIES

MYSORE represents the focal point in India's industrialisation in India. The State's wonderful natural resources are being zealously harnessed to provide for man's multitudinous needs in civilised life. Now India's teeming millions can "wash themselves with Mysore Soap, dry themselves with Mysore towels, clothe themselves in Mysore Silks, drink Mysore coffee with Mysore sugar, build their homes with Mysore cement, Mysore timber and Mysore steel, furnish their homes with Mysore furniture, write their letters on Mysore paper and cure many ailments with Mysore medicines."

Government Sandalwood Oil Factory.

The Government Sandalwood Oil Factory produces oil which conforms to the different pharmacopoeias of the world. Modern methods of distillation under strict scientific control are adopted at the Factory.

Government Soap Factory.

The Government Soap Factory, Bangalore, is one of the pioneer soap factories in India. It was started in 1918 and has since then made continued and steady progress. The Factory manufactures not only household soaps but also high class toilet soaps and certain cosmetics like pomades, creams, tooth-pastes, etc. The Factory also manufactures certain other household necessities, such as, "Iodocure," boot polishes and "quick-fix." The products of the Factory enjoy an extensive sale in the home market and are in demand even in foreign markets.

Government Electric Factory.

The Government Electric Factory is manufacturing, amongst other things, electrical transformers, scientific instruments, bakelite articles, black bolts and nuts, rivets, galvanized hardware for porcelain fittings, besides rendering useful service to other factories in the State as well as to the Railway Department by supplying spare parts for their plant.

Government Portcelain Factory.

This Factory is the only concern in South India which manufactures both high tension and low tension insulators which are supplied for defence purposes as well as to Government Departments and Corporations in India. An electrical tunnel kiln, the first of its kind in Asia, has been newly installed. The Factory is manufacturing crockery articles and also wall tiles. Experiments are being conducted in the manufacture of acid resistant ware and chemical porcelain.

Government Silk Weaving Factory.

This Factory manufactures pure and unadulterated silk and laced fabrics out of pure Mysore Silk. The products of this Factory are durable and washable and are sold at reasonable prices. The Factory is now engaged in the manufacture of parachute silk.

Mysore Government Implements Factory.

The Factory is now producing munties, pickaxes, hammers, pruning knives, digging forks and various other estate and garden implements and also cutlery and scissors.

Mysore Government Lac & Paint Works.

The chief lines of manufacture taken up by this Factory are shellac paints, ready mixed oil paints, French polishes, sealing waxes, printing ink and electrical insulating varnishes.

Sri Chamrajendra Technical Institute.

This Institute was started with the main object of training students in several arts and crafts and to revive and improve many of the indigenous industries of the Mysore State. Show-rooms are opened in the Institute building to display the products of the Institute as well as those of the private artisans and Government Industrial concerns. Furniture in wood and rattan of an excellent quality are made in this Institute.

THE MYSORE CHROME TANNING CO., LTD., Mysore Road, BANGALORE.

HISTORY.

ORIGINALLY started in 1908 as THE MYSORE TANNERY for the purpose of chrome tanning of cow hides, the Company was subsequently acquired by The Bangalore Bank Ltd., Bangalore, who introduced several improvements in the manufacturing processes, thereby increasing the Tannery's output very considerably.

In 1940 the Government of Mysore helped to convert it into a limited Company on a joint stock basis, with an authorised share capital of Rs. 5 lakhs and took up a number of shares, and the new Company was named The Mysore Chrome Tanning Co., Ltd. Its management is vested in a Board of ten Directors, three of whom are Government nominees, the Director of Industries and Commerce of Mysore State being the ex-officio Chairman and Managing Director.

ADVANTAGES.

The Tannery is situated on the Mysore Road, Bangalore, close to Municipal limits, and, with its factory buildings and workers' quarters, occupies an area of 17 acres. The climate of Bangalore is ideal for tanning operations as the temperature is fairly low throughout the year, which reduces the loss of hide substance to a minimum and yields leather of good substance and tight grain. The Tannery has also the advantage of a good supply of efficient and trained labour.

DEVELOPMENTS.

The activities of the old Tannery had been limited to the production of box and willow sides and of calf leathers suited to the requirements of the United Kingdom. The present Company has, in addition, taken up the manufacture of coloured leathers, suedes and textile leather goods such as Picking Bands, Leather Beltings, Ginning Washers, etc., and also leather goods required by the Railways. The manufacture of sole leathers by the Leach Pit system of tanning has been perfected by the Company, which has considerably increased its output. It had also helped the war efforts by supplying sole leathers to the Government of India.

Taking up an expansion Scheme, the Company is importing new sets of Tanning Machinery and Chappals making machinery and has already put up the necessary buildings to switch over its plant for successful operations.

The Company has taken up an expansion scheme of remodelling the existing buildings for increasing the capacity for drying and finishing to increase the production and for switching over its plant for successful post-war operations.

Mysore has a variety of soil and climatic conditions, offering excellent facilities for the cultivation of several medicinal plants and herbs.

The Government Industrial & Testing Laboratory which formed the nucleus to the present concern was started in 1931 for the manufacture of pharmaceutical preparations. It is well equipped for work it is intended to do, with up-to-date machinery, chemical plants designed for highly specialised work, and a fully equipped Chemical Laboratory. Highly qualified chemists and trained skilled workers are in charge of all manufacturing operations. Careful selection of materials, strict supervision, and rigid analytical control ensure highest standards of purity, potency and uniformity for all their products, which have acquired a reputation for quality, elegance, and in many cases they hold an exclusive field.

The Laboratory has made rapid progress within the past few years and increased the lines of work such as galenicals, medicinal specialities, (like Vitoferin, Grape Syrup, Sedatin, Itol, etc.), fine chemicals (like Citrates, Acetates, Amyl Alcohol, Amyl Nitrite, Methanol-G.R. etc.), glandular extracts (like Reticulin brand Liver Extract), injectables. Large scale manufacture of Calcium Lactate and Gluconate, and Malt Extract is being set up shortly. High grade sulphated oils, to meet the demand from textile and other industries, are also being manufactured.

The Laboratory had the exclusive privilege of supplying to the Supply Department of the Government of India, during the war, certain products (like Methanol-G.R. (acetone-free), Amyl Nitrite, etc.).

It has fulfilled the objects with which it was established and has turned out "what was obviously intended as a test and pilot plant for a commercial production concern" (Sir Victor Sassoon, 1943).

The Government of Mysore in pursuance of their policy to transfer industrial concerns started by them to private enterprise, after they had been established on a sound basis, ordered the conversion of the Laboratory into a Joint Stock Company.

The Laboratory was acquired by the Company in November 1945. With the facilities made available by the Government of Mysore to expand its activities, the Laboratory will endeavour to render its services in the cause of National Public Health.

PIPE FOUNDRY

THE MYSORE IRON & STEEL WORKS.

THE plant occupies an area of about 100 acres and comprised originally a modern Charcoal Blast Furnace with wood distillation and By-products Recovery Plant with the auxiliary steam and power plants, foundry and machine shop.

The Mysore Iron and Steel Works at Bhadravati now comprise —
A modern charcoal blast furnace with a capacity of 80 tons of pig iron per day.

■ Wood Distillation Plant with 16 oven retorts for carbonising about 150 tons of wood per day together with

(a) a By-Product Recovery Plant for treating the pyroligneous liquor obtained and

■ a Tar Distillation Plant.

A Pipe Foundry with a capacity of about 40 tons of C. I. Pipes to 15 per day.

A General Foundry for making Pipe specials and miscellaneous iron castings.

Two Basic Open-hearth Furnaces each with a capacity of 25-30 tons per heat.

A Rolling Mill for the conversion of the steel ingots to Mild Steel Sections, with a capacity of 80-100 tons per day.

A Plant for manufacturing Portland Cement to B.S.S., with a capacity of 60 tons per day. Extension of this plant is under consideration.

Electric Furnaces and a Steel Foundry for manufacturing manganese, carbon and alloy steel castings. An Machine Shop for the Steel Foundry is under active construction.

■ Ferro-Alloy Plant consisting of with a capacity of 900-1000 tons of ferro-silicon per annum.

The other sections consist of a Structural Shop for the fabrication of steel structure for buildings, electric transmission towers, etc., and a Brick Plant for manufacturing fire bricks and refractories.

The Plant is provided with a Pattern Shop, Machine Shop, Boiler House, Power House and other auxiliaries.

A gravitational ropeway down the Kemmangundi Hills, about 24 miles from the works, and a net-work of tramways extending to the neighbouring forest areas serve to bring the ore, limestone and wood required for operation.

PAPER INDUSTRY IN MYSORE.

The Mysore Paper Mills owe their origin to the progressive industrial policy of the Government of His Highness the Maharaja of Mysore. A Joint Stock Company was formed in 1936 with the Government of Mysore taking a share both in the capital and the management.

The Mills at Bhadravati on the banks of the perennial Bhadra commands various facilities such as nearness to bamboo forests, labour and workshop facilities. His Highness Sri Krishnaraja Wadiyar laid the foundation of the Mill buildings on the 1st of April, 1937.

The Mill designed and equipped on all-bamboo-basis is fitted with the most modern type of paper machines and other accessories for the production of chlorine and recovery of chemicals.

The Mill has a daily rated output of 17 tons of bamboo pulp, 2½ tons of rag pulp and 15 tons of high class finished paper or about 4,500 tons per annum.

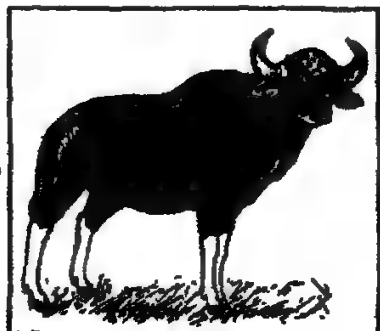

Writing, Printing and Typewriting, Banks, Bonds, Manifolds, Antiques, Bedams and other varieties, glazed and unglazed, are manufactured and marketed under the Trade Mark "Bison Brand".

The Mill employs more than 100 educated men on an average and about 600 skilled and unskilled workers, besides providing employment for 500 more in the extraction of bamboos.

A regular town has grown up at Bhadravati with all modern amenities like protected water supply, electric lighting, sanitary arrangements, a co-operative society, a primary school and medical and maternity aid.

The Mills maintained the quality of their products and service to their customers in spite of war conditions. They placed a major portion of their output at the disposal of the Government of India to meet the war needs and were therefore unable to meet the full needs of their valued customers. With the recent advent of Peace, the Mills hope they will be able before long to meet in full the demands of their growing clientele all over the country.

THE MYSORE SPUN SILK MILLS, LTD.

CHANNAPATNA.

(Established in 1936)

THE Mysore Spun Silk Mills Ltd was established with the support of the Government of Mysore with the main object of profitably utilising the silk produced in India and consequently to stabilise the Sericultural Industry in general. The factory manufactures counts of spun silk and noil yarn suitable for weaving of all kinds of fabrics. In the silk Filature section attached to the Mills raw silk of various deniers is manufactured. After contributing its mite in war effort all these six years, with resumption of the production the Mills has turned its attention to the production of civilian requirements.

The Mills has before it a plan for post-war expansion and for this purpose the authorised capital of the Company has been recently raised from Rupees Ten lakhs to Rupees Thirty lakhs.

The Government of Mysore who have all along been evincing great interest in the affairs of the Mills hold 10% of the paid up capital of the Company.

THE distinction of starting a cottage woollen industry on a large scale commercial basis goes to The Mysore Woollen Industries, Ltd. and to its Managing Director, to whose tireless effort, ability and selfless spirit it owes its birth. Incorporated in 1942, with a capital of Rs. 5 lakhs, the Company has made rapid headway and, in spite of various handicaps which every cottage industry has inevitably to put up with, has conferred on the much neglected woollen industry a rare dignity, and on its coarse products the approval of taste and fashion.

The Company has already brought to the cottage spinner and weaver hope, courage and inspiration and a large measure of prosperity; the investor looks upon it with satisfaction for the punctual 5% dividends which it has brought to him right from the start.

Woollen sheets for covering and spreading, estate Kamblis and Kamblis of all sorts, coarse and fine, coatings and rugs, felts, scarfs, army blankets and floor carpets are some of the Company's products, all made of pure live wool and on hand-loom.

The Company has earned a distinction in the Mysore Dargah Exhibition held in October 1945 where Gold Medal was awarded to its carpets, coating and bed-sheets.

WORLD-WIDE REPUTATION

PASSENGER VEHICLES THAT MAKE HISTORY — all with the perfect transmission system

The name of Daimler has been associated with fine chassis ever since the pioneer days of the British motor industry. With the ever-extending use of the Daimler car, it was natural that a demand should arise for the application of the high Daimler standards of engineering to the public service passenger vehicle, and the result was the formation of a separate company, associated closely with the rest of the important Daimler engineering group.

Daimler passenger transport vehicles are in extensive use in India, where they maintain the Daimler reputation for fine design and workmanship.

Their patent transmission, combining pre-selective epicyclic gears with the fluid flywheel, is one of the greatest advances ever made and each feature brings out the best qualities in the other.

The fluid flywheel has outstanding advantages in permitting extremely smooth starting without jerks and without any mechanical wear, since it is the oil which constitutes the driving medium. Directly the engine is gently accelerated, the drive is automatically taken up sweetly, but with increasing force until the vehicle is fully under way. During traffic stops, it is not necessary to go into neutral.

The combination of fluid flywheel and the pre-selective epicyclic system was pioneered by Daimler and is now used under licence by others.

A practical outcome of these technical refinements is to be shown in the lessened strain upon the drivers, increased comfort of the passengers and reduced maintenance costs.

The rest of the chassis, including the Daimler engine and worm-driven rear axle, is of the highest standard, and is combined with an extremely sturdy and rigid chassis frame and a sensitive and durable steering system—in short, the complete vehicle is an outstanding example of the highest type of British workmanship.

The Daimler organisation has played an important part in the design and manufacture of war vehicles—equipped with the same perfect transmission.

P. & O. LTD.

100 years of Indian Trade

The P. & O. "Hindustan" leaving Southampton, 1848, to open the Indian Mail Service.

THE years 1848 and 1849 mark the Centenary of an event of considerable importance both in the history of the Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Company and of Indian transport. It was on the 24th September, 1848, that the "Hindustan" specially built and fitted for the route between India and Suez left Southampton to proceed to India by the Round-the-Cape route. She successfully made the passage out in 92 days, of which 28 were spent in port refuelling, watering and provisioning.

Next year the "Bentinck" went out by the same route and the regular service to Egypt India began. This linked up with the European Service of the P. & O. which since 1840 had been carrying mails to ports of the Spanish Peninsula and in 1840 extended the service to Egypt. The Peninsular Company first obtained the mail contract for the Spanish Peninsula Service in 1837 and it was after the success of this had been proved by the remarkably regular running and well kept time-table across the stormy waters of the Bay of Biscay that tenders were asked by the Post Office for a steam service to Egypt and an extended service between India and Egypt, the India links to be joined by a proposed overland route across Suez. On obtaining this further contract, the Company was incorporated under 1854 Charter with the condition that the mail steamer extension to India should be carried out within two or three years.

This was the conclusion of many fruitless efforts to establish a regular India/Egypt mail Service. The great difficulties in the way were in the monsoon seasons which made the Red Sea an impassable obstacle for sailing ships and an extremely difficult one for the under-powered steamers which first attempted to navigate the route. For the the craft of India had traded with ports in the Red Sea, taking advantage of the monsoon winds to carry them from India and then after a wait of months to return when the monsoon winds changed direction. This however only meant about one voyage a year as was impossible in the consideration of a regular mail service. When the P. & O. began the through service, coaling depots had to be established over the whole route and these were supplied by a large fleet of sailing vessels which carried the coal out round the Cape to the depots in the East. It was found to be impossible to carry coal to Suez or any other Red Sea port because of that same difficulty to the monsoon winds, and for many years after the service was established P. & O. had to carry coal for the voyage down the Red Sea by camel-back across Egypt to the depot at Suez.

This Overland Route had been in existence for some years but was carried on in the most haphazard fashion and with an extreme delay and discomfort for any passengers who ventured to take it. One of the first tasks set about by the P & O was the improvement of this journey across Egypt. Outward bound the steamers took the passengers and mail to Alexandria. Here they were transferred to barges which were towed over a canal to join the waters of the Nile. Here again there was another transfer to a Nile steamer which ran between the end of this canal and Cairo, and from Cairo all passengers and baggage had to be conveyed by pony carriage, cart, camel and donkey back, across the Desert to Suva. The first barges over the canal were towed by boras, but very quickly the P & O sent out special tugs which towed the barges to and fro. Similarly special steamers were built for the passage of the Nile and across the Desert, rest houses were established. After two or three years this organisation was working so smoothly that the total time taken to do the 250 miles from sea to sea had been reduced to 78 hours. The journey across the Desert with halts for rest and refreshment took 36 hours, a journey which is now made by many passengers who wish to visit Cairo on their way to and from India by luxurious motor cars which cover the distance over a well made road in two to three hours.

There had been long controversies and many sittings of Parliamentary Committees and investigators into the possibilities of steam communication with India and as mentioned several attempts had been made to establish the Eastern end of the road. As the result of all this, the building and fitting of the "Hindustan" drew world attention and the ship's departure from Southampton was held as an event of national importance. All ships in the port and roadstead were dressed with flags and the warships crews manned the yards as the "Hindustan" passed them. The "Hindustan" was of 2017 tons with direct acting engines of 520 indicated H P, the largest and most powerful steamer then afloat. The "Bentuck" was very nearly the same size of 1974 tons with side lever engines of 520 H P. The "Precursor" of 1877 tons was sent out to India in 1844 and new steamers were continually added and the service improved from then up to the opening of the Suez Canal.

The steam communication for mails made an enormous difference to the trade of India. Before the P & O Service opened, the whole trade of the East with the U K was put at £60 millions a year. Just before the Suez Canal was opened, the value of the trade carried by the Overland Route rose to £40 millions a year. This was despite the fact that by then there were more ships trading with India by the Cape Route than there had been before the coming of steam, and the year before the Canal opened the value of Eastern trade was £120 millions a year. India derived other benefits from the opening of the P & O, extensions of the service to Singapore, China and Japan, and to the Island of Rangoon, as well as to Egypt and England, made India a centre of world ocean transport, and the establishment by the P & O of works and offices, docks and wharves, suitable for steamer traffic again was of immense value to India.

It is too early as yet to say what the future holds, but it is certain that the P & O can be counted on to take its full share in reviving and maintaining its trade in the 20th century. It is a century ago that benefit mutually the interests of the people of India and the seaborne trade of that great country.

The House of RAMNARAIN RUIA

The House of Ramnarain RUIA was founded by the late Seth Ramnarain Harnandrai who hailed from Ramgarh in Rajputana, in the Samvat year 1813.

Harnandrai Ramnarain, for that was the name which the late Seth Ramnarain traded, were doing business principally as Bankers, Financiers, etc., and were also the Managing Agents for the Phoenix Mills Ltd., Bombay, from 1918. It was on the death of Seth Ramnarain Harnandrai in 1929, following his express wishes, that the firm RAMNARAIN SONS, LTD., was incorporated, with the following Board of Directors.

Seth Harnandrai Ramnarain (Chairman)

Jammalal Bajaj.

Ramnarain Ramnarain and

Of these, Seth Jammalal Bajaj died in February 1942.

RAMNARAIN SONS, LTD., carry on business as Bankers, Financiers, Concessionaires, Cotton Merchants, Cotton Exporters and Importers and Commission Agents. They look over the Managing Agency of the Bradbury Mills Ltd., Bombay, in 1934. This Mill is one of the largest of its kind in India and has about 848 looms and 30,448 Spindles. It manufactures Coatings, Shirtings, Dhatus, Saris, Longcloth, Bed-ticking and other Grey and Fancy cloths and employs approximately 2,500 persons.

The Managing Agency of the Phoenix Mills Ltd., Bombay, handled since 1918 by Ramnarain Harnandrai & Sons, has now been taken over by Ramnarain Sons Ltd. This Mill is one of the largest of its kind in India and has 57,500 Spindles and about 800 Looms. It manufactures Yarn of Counts from 4s to 40s and Piecegoods such as Safis, Sheeting, Bedticking, Shirtings, Dhatus, Longcloth and various types of other Grey and Fancy cloths. The number of persons on its pay roll today approximates 2,500.

In addition to all the foregoing, Ramnarain Sons, Ltd., in recent years have developed their Raw Cotton business until today they are one of the foremost cotton merchants in India. Up to the outbreak of the present hostilities their exports covered all the foreign markets including the U.S.A., in which Indian cotton is used. Today they are among the leading shippers to the United Kingdom, and, through the British Ministry of Supplies, their cotton finds its way into most of Lancashire's Mills. Through their network of Agencies in most of India's upcountry markets they purchase cotton that is used in India's domestic mills, while, for use by the Fine Count Section of the domestic industry, their imports of Long Staple Foreign Cotton cover Egyptians, Sudans, Iraq, Africans and Americans.

SHRI RAMA SILK MILLS, LIMITED

Shri-Ram-Bagh, Basavangudi P. O.,
BANGALORE CITY.

THE Mills had their beginnings in the Shri Rama Silk Throwing Factory, started in 1926 as a proprietary concern by Mr N G Naik, with 500 spindles and a small weaving establishment. The increasing demand for the yarn and fabrics of the factory necessitated its conversion in 1939 to a private limited company, the present Shri Rama Silk Mills, Ltd. The Mills are equipped with 5,000 spindles and looms of the latest type. The products of the Mills—silk yarn, georgettes, sarees, shirtings, etc.—are much in demand in all the important silk and silk cloth markets of India.

Mr N G Naik, a leading businessman of Mysore, who has endeavoured to develop the silk industry in Mysore and whose study of the industry in Japan actuated him to promote the Mysore Silk Filatures, Ltd., for the manufacture of high grade filature silk under the benevolent patronage of Government of Mysore, is the guiding genius of the Mills, which augurs well for its future. He is also on the Board of Directors of the Mysore Spun Silk Mills, Ltd., the Mysore Glass and Enamel Works, Ltd., etc., besides being a prominent member of the Mysore Silk Association and the Mysore Chamber of Commerce. He has been recently elected to represent important industrial houses of Mysore State in the Mysore Representative Assembly.

Under the kind patronage of the Government of Bombay, a company named the Bombay Silk Filatures, Ltd., has been started by Mr N G Naik to develop sericulture as a cottage industry and manufacture of high grade silk in Belgaum and Dharwar districts. A similar scheme for the development of sericulture and manufacture of high grade silk is being patronised by the Raja of Kurundwad, who has afforded special facilities to develop the industry in his State.

THIS firm was founded by the well known planter and business man of South India, Mr A V Thomas, with six other leading business men on 14th January, 1935. It was started on a modest scale but the Company made rapid progress from the very commencement and continued to maintain steady development. It holds a unique position in South India, and manages eight prominent Plantation Companies: The Fringford Estates Ltd, The Highland Produce Co Ltd, The Kalpetta Estates Ltd, The Midland Rubber & Produce Co Ltd, The Nelhampathy Tea & Produce Co Ltd, The Punalur Rubber & Tea Estates Ltd, The Rajagiri Rubber & Produce Co Ltd, and The Velhamattam Rubber Co Ltd, with an aggregate paid-up capital of nearly Rs 140,00,000 and controlling about 8,500 acres of rubber, 5,500 acres of tea and 3,000 acres of coffee cardamom, etc., the corresponding approximate yields of rubber and tea being Rubber 25,00,000 lbs and Tea 32,00,000 lbs per year.

A V THOMAS,
Managing Director.

Realising that the future of the country depends upon industrial development alongside agricultural development, the Company extended its activities in this direction and has under its managing agency the reputed firm of ship builders and engineers, Brunton & Co Engineers, Ltd, of Cochin, and other industrial concerns like The Corv Yarn & Textiles, Ltd, The India Nut Co, Ltd, and The South Indian Engineering Works Ltd.

Situated in Alleppey, the most important commercial town and sea port of Travancore, a progressive State ruled by a democratic young Maharaja, and close to Cochin harbour, this Company with its ramifications throughout India, plays an important part in the development of India's trade and industry, thanks to the undaunted initiative enthusiasm and enterprise of Mr A V Thomas and his management, to which the Company and its sister concerns owe their creation and success.

A. V. THOMAS & CO. (INDIA) LTD.

(INCORPORATED IN BRITISH INDIA).

THIS COMPANY started in 1941 with its Registered office at Madras by the well-known planter and business man of South India, Mr. A V Thomas, along with two others well experienced in commercial and industrial enterprises, for enlarging and developing trade and other commercial activities in British India. During the period of 4 years, the Company has made rapid progress by opening up branches at Cochin, Calcut, Coimbatore and Alleppey.

The Company has acquired the managing agency of two large planting companies, The Sheveroy Estates Ltd and The Neelamalai Tea & Coffee Estates Ltd, with a total paid-up capital of Rs 67½ lakhs and owning plantations over 3,300 acres of tea, coffee, etc, in the planting districts of Sheveroya and Nilgiris, with an annual yield of approximately 13 lakhs lbs of tea and 100 tons of coffee.

On the industrial side, they manage The Ayurvedic Compound Tinctures Ltd, the pioneer concern in India, manufacturing Ayurvedic tinctures. Their preparations are gaining popularity and are available at agencies throughout India.

Thomco Tea Ltd is another associate concern who are distributing agents for our popular brands of teas, wholesale and in packets, and they have a network of sales organisation throughout India.

The Company has a New Managing Agency, The Radio & Electricals Limited, Madras. Manufacturers of Radio sets, Electrical Machinery, etc, with a Paid-up Capital of Rs 20,00,000.

HIND

FAVoured FOR FLAVOUR

You cannot find a better palate. No other use of natural materials can give a fruit squash the wholesome, refreshing flavour of pure juice. Hind Laboratories are fully conscious of this and are taking no pains to use fresh fruit for the manufacture of their Orange Squash, Time Cordial and Lemon-Barley.

A HIND squash is the genuine thing and owes its popularity to its 'Clean' flavour. As a fruit product, it is very healthful.
